POLITICAL.

Vice-President Colfax to Speak in the West.

What the Tammany Candidate Would Ignore.

One of the Things that the War Has Settled.

The Outrages Committed on Colored Men in Georgia.

Political Gatherings in this City Yesterday.

Vice-President Colfax.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax will be able to make several speeches in Indiana and Michigan, in behalf of the election of Grant and Wilson, next week. Mrs. Colfax, who has been very ill since the time of the death of Mr. Colfax's mother, has so far recovered that he expects to be able to take her in the course of this week to her former home in Ohio, where she will spend the Winter. Mr. Colfax will then return, and on Saturday will speak at Laporte, Ind., and during next week at Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, Mich., and Kokomo, Crown Point, and Mishawaka, Ind.

What Greeley Would Ignore.

Mr. Wm. W. Deery, formerly member of Company D, Tenth Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, tells in a letter to the St. Paul (Minn.) Press some of his personal experiences while in the hands of the rebels. He says: "During my fifteen months of imprisonment I was confined in seven different prisons, of which number Libby was the best of all, where all were worse than death itself. During the month of July, 1864, as many as 125 deaths occurred in Andersonville in one day; these dead bodies were hauled like so many hogs to the cemetery and dumped into ditches; in the afternoon our "grub" was thrown into the same wagons and hauled inside the stockade to us. Imagine for yourself whether this was a fertile source of disease or not. And in the face of all this Mr. Greeley is afraid of our reminding the rebels of these things."—(See his Pittsburg speech.)

One Thing that the War Settled.

Greeley's theory about secession elicits from the Hartford Courant such timely comments as these: "It is useless to argue the question whether the rebellion could have been prevented by a popular and fair vote of the South, or whether secession or any other question could in the future be prevented by a vote. It is a matter of opinion merely. We think not. We think that the temper, the action of the Southern people gave evidence that the fairest vote would have been heavily against the Union, after the election of Lincoln, and when it was evident that the majority of the Union intended to resist the spread of slavery. But the point is, and it appears to be one that Mr. Greeley has never had a clear conception of, that the question of secession is one that we, the people of the United States, will not under any circumstances put to vote at all. We won't admit the dissolution of the Union under any circumstances. We won't submit the destruction of the nation to popular vote at any time. The nation is indestructible by ballot. It is only to be ended by superior force. It can only go to pieces by a successful conspiracy and revolution. The Federal Government has a right to coerce a State, by all the power of the nation, to stay in the Union. It is the duty of the President to promptly use that power on occasion. The war settled this, if it settled anything. Mr. Greeley would submit the question to a vote, and not use force—except to defend the States attacked. The holding of this theory is fatal to Mr. Greeley."

The Recent Outrages in Georgia—Appeal of the Republican State Committee.

ROOMS REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE, ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 17, 1872.

To the Republicans of Georgia:

By direction of the State Central Committee, I address you on the subject of our present duty.

According to the returns, we were largely outvoted at the late State election. This result was accomplished by outrages unexampled except in the previous villainies of the Southern Democracy. Law was unblushingly violated; fraud and intimidation were systematically practiced; election officers, sworn to fairness, perjured themselves to help the Democratic Party; Republican voters, by groundless challenges and other lawless contrivances, were kept from voting by thousands, while Democrats, whether lawful voters or not, were freely admitted to the polls; ballot boxes were fraudulently stuffed with Democratic tickets; false returns were made, and the crowning crime of murder is charged to Democratic hands.

An unprincipled Press is now busy in denying, palliating, or justifying these crimes. A victory thus won disgraces the victors, but not the conquered.

Under these circumstances, what is our duty? Never weary in well-doing. Assured of the final triumph of every righteous cause; stimulated to more resolute action by the base conduct of our opponents, remembering that in the vicissitudes of politics the minority of today is often the majority of to-morrow, let us persevere in our efforts to make the principles of our party the political creed of the State. They are the principles of the Constitution. Without adopting them, Georgia cannot achieve her full measure of prosperity.

The recent outrages should intensify that patriotic impulse which has arrayed us against the Democratic Party. What we have experienced here shows the temper and purposes of Mr. Greeley's party in the South, and advertises to the country what a calamity his election would be. The character of that party, as the organized enemy of the Constitution, of law, of liberty and of justice, is now more manifest than ever. If it shall sway the State and continue its present spirit, immigration will be repressed, capital and enterprise will be driven out, and thousands of useful citizens, especially of the producing classes, will remove to States where they can enjoy the equal rights denied to them here. A free American laborer will not long live where he cannot have a free ballot. We must strive to save Georgia from these calamities.

On the 5th of November next Georgia will vote for President and members of Congress. We must labor to carry the State. If defeated fairly we shall not complain. If defeated unfairly let us take proper measures to expose and correct the unfairness. To this end every Republican voter should go to the polls and tender his ballot, or try to tender it. As to members of Congress every such ballot will be made effectual by Congress whether received and counted by the managers or not.

The result of the national election is now sure. Grant and Wilson will be elected. Georgia can place herself in harmony with the rest of the country or remain in a sullen and unprofitable isolation. She can have in Congress a Republican delegation that will be respected there, and able to procure any needed legislation for her benefit, or a Democratic delegation without influence, and odious as representatives of fraud and violence. If she choose the latter alternatives let us clear ourselves of all responsibility for the stupid mistake.

Then give one day more to your country. Go to the polls in the spirit of freemen, and there exercise your rights.

HENRY P. FARROW,
Chairman Republican State Central Committee.

Scandinavian Mass-Meeting in Brooklyn.

A mass-meeting was held last evening at Commonwealth Hall, Brooklyn, under the auspices of the Scandinavian Grant and Wilson Campaign Club. The hall was crowded, principally with persons of Swedish nativity. The meeting was presided over by H. Bowie. The Chairman, after a few inaugural remarks, introduced Hon. A. W. Gleason, of New-York. The speaker gave an interesting account of his observations while making the canvass of the State. In nearly every county he visited the tide of popular feeling was turning strongly in favor of the Republican candidates. He referred facetiously to Mr. Greeley's political course, and illustrated his subject with a volume of anecdotes that kept the large audience in constant good humor.

The band of music that had enlivened the occasion played an inspiring interlude, after which H. T. Tyler, Esq., carried his audience with him by plain and pointed statements with regard to the inconsistencies of Mr. Greeley, illustrating, as did Mr. Gleason, with copious anecdotes.

The speeches were well received, and the meeting adjourned with enthusiastic cheers for the Republican candidates.

Hon. Isaac Dayton followed in an argumentative speech, after which the meeting dispersed.

THE MAYORALTY.

The Reform Nomination Tendered to Wm. F. Havemeyer.

He Accepts It—Speeches of Peter Cooper and the Nominee—Official Correspondence.

The Committee delegated by the United Reform Convention to tender the nomination for Mayor of the City to William F. Havemeyer, met at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday at noon, Mr. Peter Cooper in the chair. There was a large attendance of members.

Mr. Myer Stern explained the purpose of the meeting and read the following address to be presented to Mr. Havemeyer as expressive of their sentiments:

To Hon. William F. Havemeyer:

DEAR SIR: As delegated by the United Reform Association of the City, we have the honor to present to you, as the choice of the Reformers, their nomination for Mayor. In asking you to accept of this nomination, we are fully alive to the sacrifice you will be called upon to make if elected to the high office of Chief Magistrate of this City. In common with the great majority of our fellow-citizens, we feel the deep degradation to which our City has been subjected by the fraudulent Government under which we have so long lived; and to remedy, and, as far as possible, remove those evils from which we have so severely suffered, becomes the duty of any one who can in any way be instrumental in accomplishing so beneficent a result.

Pre-eminently you stand forth as the representative of that feeling by which all classes of our citizens are at present animated, and it is their conviction that with the Government of the City under your supervision, honesty, integrity and capacity shall be the prevailing characteristics of our officials, and that, under your direction, we shall ere long secure the long-looked for and efficient and economical Government. Respectfully yours, (Signed,) Peter Cooper, Myer Stern, Wm. R. Vermilye, J. F. Timpson, John H. White, Henry Clews, Charles M. Hall, John Foley, S. V. R. Cooper, E. A. Stansbury, Jno. Balmore, Francis J. Geis, Charles H. Marshall, Wm. E. Dodge.

A committee was then appointed, consisting of Messrs. W. E. Dodge, Henry Clews, Myer Sterne, W. R. Vermilye, John Foley, C. F. Timpson and Peter Cooper, to wait upon Mr. Havemeyer, at his office, No. 111 Broadway, and formally tender him the nomination. Shortly before 1 o'clock the Committee waited upon Mr. Havemeyer, and, the address having been read, Mr. Peter Cooper, as Chairman, urged its acceptance, and said that it was impossible that a refusal could be taken. In reply, Mr. Havemeyer said: I am very much obliged for your very complimentary allusions to myself, and for the action of this very respectable Committee, but as I have not yet received some nominations that have been made to me, I shall be unable, just now, to signify my acceptance of your very kind nomination. I will take opportunity, by to-morrow, of addressing an answer to your nomination which I hope will prove satisfactory. [Applause.]

Mr. Cooper said that some eighteen or nineteen organizations had nominated Mr. Havemeyer, and their nominations would receive the indorsement of the entire City.

Mr. HAVEMEYER—As you know, I have already filled the office for two terms, and have enjoyed all its honors, and must look upon it now as a place of hard work rather than ambition.

Mr. Cooper still urged the acceptance of the nomination, for on his action depended the salvation of the City from political trickery. His nomination, like that of Gen. Grant's, four years ago, was made by the people, irrespective of party, and would be equally successful. Some further conversation ensued and the interview terminated.

The following letter was afterward prepared and sent to the Committee:

NEW-YORK, Oct. 19, 1872.

To Messrs. James Emott, Oswald Ottendorfer, Wm. E. Dodge, Wm. H. Neilson and Robert G. Cornell, Committee, &c.:

GENTLEMEN: Since sending a letter to the Press, intimating the inexpediency of accepting a nomination for the Mayoralty, on account of the apparent lack of concentrated action on the part of those interested in Municipal reform, I have received your favor of the 17th inst., tendering to me, on behalf of the Committee of Fifty, and of the reform organizations of the City, and especially of the earnest and numerous organizations of German Reformers, their nomination as the reform candidate for Mayor.

To say that I do not place a high estimate upon the very complimentary action of the bodies that you represent would be to undervalue the importance of the office with which they have associated my name. To me, however, this office has no attractions. I have already enjoyed whatever of honor it can confer, and now contemplate it not as an object of ambition, but only as a trust of toil, care, and responsibility which nothing ought induce me to resume. But the connection I have had with efforts to retrieve the condition of our Municipal affairs, and a sense of duty growing out of that connection compel me to respond to the call of such of my fellow-citizens as think that this great public object can be best subserved by my acceptance.

It is, perhaps, needless for me to add that, if elected, it will be my aim to administer the office in the interest of reform and for the impartial benefit of the whole people of this Metropolis, and without subordinating it to the requirements of political partisanship. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WM. F. HAVEMEYER.

THE INDIANS.

No Disturbance Threatened in Idaho—Stage Coaches Guarded Against White Highwaymen.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22—A gentleman of Washington, who has just returned from Idaho, and who is familiar with the Indian question in that Territory, says the telegram from San Francisco in this morning's newspapers, that a general Indian war in Idaho is imminent, must be erroneous in its statements. There is no possibility of an Indian outbreak in Idaho. Early in the Summer a party of whites furnished liquor to a camp of Indians, and in a quarrel about a horse one of the whites was killed. With this exception, not a white man in the Territory has been disturbed. The stage coaches, however, all carry guards to protect them from organized bands of white highwaymen. A party of white horse-thieves have made the Territory their head-quarters, and the thieves who have stolen thousands of cattle and horses in the region of Green River are known to belong to the band.

A Talk Between the Delegation at Washington and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs—Ultimatum of the Government Presented.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Gen. Walker, had a talk with the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache delegations of Indians today, at the Department of the Interior, in the presence of Assistant Secretary of the Interior Cowen, and other gentlemen of official prominence, including Capt. Alvord, Special Indian Commissioner. Some of the Indians were seated on chairs, while others occupied places on the floor. All of them were in full savage costume, with their faces heavily painted. Gen. Walker indulged in very plain talk, in accordance with the views of the Administration, as recently expressed by the President and the members of the Cabinet.

After the regular business of the session had been concluded the ultimatum of the Government was stated to these Indian representatives substantially as follows:

"The Government has ceased to accept mere professions of friendship and good faith, and now requires evidence of their honesty of purpose. The terms dictated were: First, the Kiowas and Comanches here represented must, before the 15th of December next, camp every chief, head man, brave and family complete, within ten miles of Fort Sill and the Agency; they must remain there until Spring, without giving any trouble, and shall not then leave unless with the consent of their Agent; they shall, before that date, give up to their Agent all animals they have stolen from the Government, or any person in their neighborhood, military authorities, agents, and traders, and when they cannot return the same stolen animals, they must make restitution from their own stock. All these things the representatives of the Indians have promised to do.

Gen. Walker informed them the Government does not propose to treat with those portions of the tribal bands who have declined to send representatives to Washington, and they would soon hear that United States troops have been directed to operate against them. Every man belonging to any tribal band not at the place named by the 15th of December is to be considered an enemy of the Government, and as having chosen to remain hostile. Such persons are to receive no further benefit from the Government; the troops would kill them wherever they were found. The Commissioner assured those who complied with the requirements of the Government that they should be provided for. The Great Father was as good to his red as to his white children. The agent at Fort Sill would send word to the Great Father if anything went wrong.

The Indians remaining silent, they were asked whether they had anything to say, when one of them, after a short conference with his fellow-chiefs, said: "We came in to do what our Great Father wants us to do. We told you what our council did. If we did not intend to do well we would not have come here from the Plains."

Several Indians said they would do all in their power to induce the stragglers to come to the meeting, but they did not express confidence in their success. The Indians retired, cordially shaking hands with the Commissioner, and acting as though they were pleased with his plain talk. They will leave Washington on Friday for Baltimore, and on Saturday proceed to Philadelphia on their return to the Plains.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Miss Agnes Livingstone, daughter of Dr. Livingstone, has published a letter from her father, in which he says: "I have written two letters to Mr. Bennett. I meant to keep the materials to myself, but because the expedition was expensive I gave Mr. Stanley what would help him to write a book. Unsatisfactory Telegraphic Service—A New Amnesty Bill for Recent Political Offenders.

MADRID, Oct. 22.—In the Cortes, yesterday, Señor Pascual called attention to what he termed the shameful condition of the telegraphic service in Spain. He knew of cases in which dispatches from Madrid were forty-eight hours in reaching Paris, and thirty-six hours on the way to Barcelona. He wanted to know if the Government which had charge of the telegraphs was unable to do better, and whether the business could not be transferred to private hands.

Señor Martos, Minister of Justice, announced that a new Amnesty bill for recent political offenses would soon be submitted.

MISSOURI.

Senator Morton at St. Louis—Eloquent and Logical Argument for Republican Principles—Greeley Touched Up—Large and Brilliant Audience.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 22.—Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana, arrived in this city today, and spoke to-night at the head-quarters of the Missouri Club to one of the most respectable audiences, for numbers and intelligence, that has greeted an orator during the campaign. Senator Morton was introduced by Hon. George Blair, President of the Missouri Club, in appropriate terms. The Senator spoke for nearly three hours in his happiest style, and cheer after cheer testified to the force and eloquence of his arguments. He spoke of the much-abused so-called carpet-baggers of the South, and showed conclusively that they were a blessing instead of a curse to that region of our common country. The reconstruction of the Southern States was of necessity placed in the hands of the negroes and Carpetbaggers for the reason that the intelligent whites of the South held aloof from the reorganization of their States, after the close of the war, and consequently they had no body to blame but themselves if the State administrations were not conducted to their personal and political satisfaction. The Senator said that we were a nation of carpet-baggers, and from the foundation of the Government to the present time citizens had left one State and gone to another for the purpose of bettering the condition of themselves and their families. What the South wanted was carpet-bags filled with money for the development of its agricultural, mineral and educational resources. What the nation wanted was security and safety for life and property, and this it will have through the success of the Republican Party. The so-called cry of reconciliation was pictured as a gross fraud by Senator Morton, and he showed in conclusive terms that there could be no reconciliation save that based upon truth and principle, and if the loyal people of the North were asked to make such a reconciliation with the South that the Kuklux element would control the brave men that stood for the Union in the bloody days of war, then he, for one, would resist such an outrage, and never consent to this humiliation and oppression of our friends in the South. The record of Mr. Greeley was portrayed in all the glaring inconsistency that has characterized the course of the so-called "Philosopher," and his secession record was dwelt upon with withering effect. The Senator said that the great undying reason of the Democracy in accepting Horace Greeley as their candidate for President was found in the fact that he was the only Republican in the North of any note that advocated secession, and put it upon the high moral right of individuals to revolutionize their Government when dissatisfaction with the compact prevails. He showed that even in the recent speech of Greeley at Pittsburg, when "swinging around the circle," that the old white hat would still consent to a dissolution of the Union if any respectable number of the people desired it, and as a clincher upon Horace and the Cincinnati and Baltimore "bummers," the Senator read an extract from Greeley's letter of acceptance, wherein he fully indorsed the doctrine of State rights by a pledge that, should he be elected President, no Federal interference would be permitted in the South, but the people of that section who went into the rebellion should have full power to whip, burn and murder the loyal men that stood by the Union.

Mr. Morton asked the audience if they wanted a man for President who advocated such cowardly doctrine, and who was known to all men as a political weathercock, a trimmer full of hobbies, and always jumping from one thing to another of more ridiculous import. A response came up from the upturned faces of thousands that would convince the most ultra Hard-shell Democrat that the people utterly repudiate the old Tribune humbug.

Senator Morton closed his great speech with an eloquent eulogy upon the Republican Party and President Grant. He said the Administration of Gen. Grant would compare most favorably with any Administration this Government ever had, not excepting that of Washington, Jackson or Lincoln. The great reduction in taxation to the payment of the national debt at the rate of more than one hundred millions per annum challenged the admiration of the world, and combined with the peaceful Indian policy of the President and the settlement of the Alabama claims, the record surpassed anything in the history of the world. Gen. Grant had proved to mankind that arbitration could be successfully substituted for war, and the people of this nation would stand unalterably by the great warrior and statesman that has silently but surely made our country honored and respected at home and in foreign lands

At the conclusion of the speech the audience rose to their feet and gave three rousing cheers for Morton and Grant. The Republicans of Missouri will be heard from two weeks from today, and we hope and believe that the victory will perch upon our banners.

The York County, Pennsylvania, Court-House Robbed—The Treasurer's Accounts Stolen.

YORK, Penn., Oct. 22.—Last March, soon after the Legislature appointed the Reauditing Committee, the Court-house here was entered and all the vouchers stolen that could implicate any of the members of the "Ring." Last night the Court-house was again entered and all the Treasurer's accounts for the past six years were stolen, together with the stub-book which contains the records of notes issued by the county. But more important than all, the Reauditor's report, which was to have been filed at the November term of the Court, containing evidence of the most gigantic frauds, was carried off.

Repression of Crime in New-Jersey—Successor to Judge Voorhees.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 22.—Gov. Parker today appointed eight marshals, with the full power and authority of constables, to arrest violators of the peace in Hackensack township, Bergen County, under a law of 1869 for the better prevention of crime in that locality. The same law is extended to Harrington, in the same county. This act is intended to provide against the frequent depredations against persons and property.

The Governor also appointed John C. Rafferty Judge of the Common Pleas of Hunterdon County, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Voorhees.

Murder of a Railroad Conductor.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—As a passenger-train on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad was leaving Marshfield, between 9 and 10 o'clock last night, Conductor Perch, on entering a car, was shot by an unknown man and killed. It is supposed the deed was committed by a man who had been put off the train for refusing to pay fare. The murderer escaped, but the citizens of Marshfield were aroused, and a large party immediately started in pursuit.

An Extraordinary Story of Longevity.

From the Wilmington (N. C.) Journal, Oct. 17.

Mr. A. J. Hill, agent of a life insurance company, took out a policy a few days since on the life of Mr. Alfred Brown, of Brunswick, in regard to whose family there are some rather peculiar circumstances. Mr. Brown is about sixty years of age; his father has seventeen brothers, all of whom are now living, and Mr. Brown has, himself, four brothers and four sisters, all living. His grandfather died at the age of 100, and his grandmother, now alive and in good health, is 120 years old.

RAILWAY CRASH.

An Eastern Railroad Express-Train Partially Telescoped.

It Runs Into a Freight-Train Standing on a Siding.

Three Persons Already Dead and Eight or Ten Others Injured.

Narrow Escape of the Mass of the Passengers from Destruction.

Carelessness of the Freight Brakeman Probably the Cause.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Oct. 22.—The most unfortunate and fatal railway accident that has occurred in New-England since the memorable disaster at Revere, happened at Seabrook, N. H., a flag station, about six miles east of this place, on the Eastern Road, this morning. The night express from Bangor, with Pullman sleeping-cars attached, due in Boston at 5½ A. M., ran into a local freight-train which was standing on a siding at that place at 4:14 A. M., telescoping the smoking-car, killing one passenger outright and injuring two so that they have since died, and twelve others more or less severely.

The train was made up of an Eastern express-car, a Maine Central baggage, smoking and passenger car, and two Pullman sleeping-cars. The engineer discovered the misplaced switch when only 200 feet away from it, whistled "down brakes," reversed the engine and jumped off. The fireman remained. The engine crashed into the freight-train, smashing all the rear cars, and the baggage-car was telescoped into the smoking-car, carrying the seats, tables, chairs and everything else before it, so that the roof of the smoking-car was left hanging on the top of the baggage-car. The passenger-car behind these two was only slightly injured, and the sleeping-cars were not damaged in the least. The lights in the broken cars were all extinguished, so there was no danger of fire.

Capt. Norton, of Gardiner, Me., who was sitting in the forward end of the smoking-car, was badly crushed when taken from the ruins, and must have been instantly killed. He was about forty-five years old, and was one of the best sea Captains in New-England. He had just purchased a house in Boston and was on his way there, his family and furniture having gone on the boat the night before. George Hayward, of Randolph, was fatally injured in the spine, and died here this afternoon. A Mr. Walker was put on the train for Salem, so badly injured that he died before reaching that city. At this moment it is impossible to obtain a full list of the injured.

Until some new circumstances can be developed, the blame must rest upon Dow, the brakeman. The local freight was stuck on a heavy grade, when the Bangor freight came along and pushed it up. It was then switched on to the siding, and the switch must have been set right, for the through freight kept on by the siding toward Boston. The only plausible theory then is that Dow, having changed the switch, carelessly completed his action and changed it back again. This he denies, but the conductor of the freight immediately after the accident ran up and found it off, with the lock hanging by the side. It could not have been done by thieves, for none were seen in the vicinity. There was no attempt at robbery, and on the dead body of Capt. Norton were found $1,000 in money and a gold watch. Of course, everything possible was done for the injured persons, and those who were able to bear removal were sent to their homes. A jury has been impaneled, and the inquest will begin at Portsmouth to-morrow.

Opening of the Inquest—Complete List of the Killed and Wounded.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 22.—Coroner John E. Rider, of Portsmouth, summoned a jury of inquest today. Jacob Johnson was examined as to the position of the trains. Messrs. Hackett, of Portsmouth, and Ives and Lincoln, of Salem, counsel for the Eastern Railroad, invited Attorney-General Clark to appear at the investigation. John S. H. Frink, County Solicitor, appears for the State. The body of Capt. Norton was brought here today and prepared for transmission to Gardiner. The post-mortem examination showed that death was produced by concussion of the brain.

The following is a complete list of the victims of the dreadful catastrophe:

It then rallied to 102 on sales of twenty-five shares, and the next lots, thirty-five shares were taken at 105. The closing price being 105 bid, 105½ asked.

THE HARLEM SWINDLE.

Judge Porter Discloses a Series of Startling Facts.

The Stationery and Furniture Frauds—The Warrant, Issued on a Forged Certificate, Traced to Genet's Credit in the Yorkville Savings Bank.

The Senate Commission appointed to investigate the frauds in the construction of the Ninth District Court-house, met yesterday morning in the City Hall, all three Commissioners being present. After some delay, arising from the absence of witnesses, Judge Josiah Porter entered the room, and was placed on the witness stand for examination by Mr. Parsons:

Josiah Porter said he was Justice of the Ninth District Civil Court, and as such, by virtue of the Act of April 27, 1870, became a Commissioner for the construction of the Ninth District Court-house; knew the lots on which the Court-house was to have been built; entered upon his duties early in the Summer of 1870; could not fix the exact date; did not know of anything being done by the Commission up to the time of the negotiation for the purchase of the lots; the first thing witness did was to go to the Mayor's office to qualify; was requested to do so probably by one of the Commissioners; the Commissioners met at the Mayor's office; were not sworn in, for some reason; believe the Mayor said it was not necessary; was next notified to attend a meeting of the Commission, and attended; saw there present Tweed, McQuade, Corson and Genet; Genet was elected counsel and Cornelius Corson clerk; was not certain that Genet's name was not mentioned as counsel while the Commissioners were in the Mayor's office; Genet may have been present at the Mayor's office; did not recollect by whom notified to attend the Commissioners' meeting; Genet had no other duties to perform for the Commission, to his knowledge, than that of counsel; as a Senator, witness supposed he had the same right as any other Senator, to look after the work of construction; cannot give Genet's motives for exercising that right; had the impression that Genet was present in the Mayor's office; never conversed with Genet relative to the Court-house prior to his appointment as counsel; did not recollect being present on any occasion when the Court-house was the subject of coversation; the Commission was organized by the appointment of W. M. Tweed as President, Cornelius Corson as Clerk, and H. W. Genet as counsel; did not know if the Clerk kept any record of the proceedings of the Commissioners; was present at only one meeting, and was never informed of any other; if the Commissioners had had other meetings, they might have imposed certain duties on the Clerk, but it was without witness' knowledge; did not recollect when Corson was first spoken of as Clerk or Genet as counsel; it may have been mentioned at the Mayor's office; witness supposed the Clerk would have to keep minutes, but did not recollect seeing him write in any book; never heard of Lewis Baker who got $2,000 a year as Superintendent, until last Fall.

Mr. Parsons here produced a certificate for Lewis Baker's salary for three months, amounting to $500, and handed it to witness, who continued:

Could not swear to the signature of his name on the certificate as being his; did not wish to say it was or was not his signature—there were so many certificates and vouchers purporting to bear his signature, the number being greatly in excess of what he supposed he had signed; witness had seen his name so accurately imitated that he could not tell it; this had been shown to him both before and after this investigation had been begun; witness' signature was peculiar, but friends had shown him how easily it might be imitated; witness believed the signature to the certificate shown him was his own; did not know of the existence of Baker until last Fall; if the signature was his the paper was not in the same condition as when witness signed it; the blanks were brought to witness, who, when he saw they were signed by Tweed and McQuade, affixed his own signature; witness relied on McQuade's signature for his guidance, and always signed after his name; after being signed the blanks were placed in McQuade's hands, as witness had the utmost confidence in him and believed he would use the papers properly; witness thought he was signing requisitions in blank, and never for a moment thought money would be paid on them, as he subsequently found had been done; did not know the Controller did business that way; never knew Baker, or, in fact, any Superintendent of any kind; did not know how Baker gained the right to act as such; he was never appointed at any meeting of the Commissioners when witness was present; witness had visited the work of the Court-house construction, but not often; had attended only one meeting of the Commissioners; did not consider it necessary to visit the works as a Commissioner; supposed the work was being done by contract, and the Commisioners had nothing to do with the construction, except in the event of the contractor failing to complete his contract; did not know how the architect became attached to the Commission, or how he came to draw plans; at the first meeting the architect presented plans which were not satisfactory, and it was suggested that he should alter them; he was to present them again after the changes had been made; did not know how Scallon got the contract; met Judge McQuade on the stairs of the Police Court one day, and was asked by him how witness would like Scallon to have the contract for the building; being perfectly satisfied with Scallon, knowing him, witness consented; knew nothing of the employment of Inslee as architect except his presenting the plans to the Commission; Genet was present at that meeting and engaged in the conversation; did not at any time learn how Inslee became engaged by the Commission; did not know of George A. T. Lynch being appointed assistant clerk; had no recollection of any other appointments being made, except those of clerk and counsel; the compensation of those officers was never fixed to his knowledge; could not tell by what right Genet drew $5,000 per year for compensation; knew of no special work that he performed; knew nothing of the appointments or duties of the other subordinate officers; there might have been a messenger to the Commissioners who had duties to perform, such as messengers generally have; did not know what services he rendered, as he was not aware a messenger existed; witness examined the title to the lots; was requested by Genet or McQuade to see the lots; told them he was satisfied, and that the site was fit for the Court-house; examined the title for Genet; cannot tell whether it had then been determined that the City should buy before the title was examined into; Mr. Fairchild brought the papers to be examined; never made any charge for examination and never intended to make one; completed the examination when Fairchild purchased the lots in the name of Wynants for Genet; what witness did was as a lawyer, at the suggestion of the counsel of the Commission, supposing he was rendering a service to the Commission; was not employed by the Commission; if witness had not been a member of the Commission, would not have done the work without charge; thought he had paid all the installments on the land for the Commission; did not remember a deed being drawn to the City; did not recollect if such a deed had been drawn in witness' office; supposed the Corporation Counsel would complete the necessary papers; never heard that Genet had anything to do with examining the title to the land; thought that after witness had finished with the matter Genet went to the Corporation Counsel's office; knew of no services that Genet rendered to entitle him to $5,000 for examining title, as charged to and paid by the City; witness believed the signature attached to the certificate for that sum to be paid to Genet, to be witness' signature, but said so with the qualification before made; might be able to determine if all the certificates were placed before him; had supposed he had signed no more than twenty or at the most thirty; could not fix the exact number; never saw Scallon's bills; had only learned by report that $268,580 had been drawn from the City treasury for expenditures on the Court-house; knew nothing of the expenditures; when witness read of the immense expenditure he tried to get the papers from the Controller's office, but failed; had heard of the Manufacturing Stationers' Company; knew nothing of it or its location; never knew of Tweed's office being in the same building at Nos. 83 and 85 Duane-street; never visited Tweed in any other office than the old Street Department, and that but once; read of Tweed being interviewed at some office in Duane-street.

Mr. Parsons here asked Judge Porter if the signature to the certificate for stationery, &c., said to have been supplied to the Ninth District Court-house, and for which the Manufacturing Stationery Company charged $2,492 15, was in his hand-writing. At the suggestion of Mr. Trull, Judge Porter's counsel, the witness was allowed to examine all the certificates purporting to bear his name, which examination lasted several minutes, at the end of which Judge Porter again testified as follows:

Witness believed the signature to the certificate for stationery to be his; knew of no occasion for stationery for the use of the Commission, except perhaps as a minute book, and some other small books; never saw such books, and none were furnished to witness' knowledge; never knew of quantities of letter and note paper, official paper, envelopes, rubber bands, blotting paper, inkstands, pencils, &c., being delivered to the Commission; never had any article of stationery of any kind or description delivered to him personally. In answer to Senator Weissman the witness said the stationery furnished to the Ninth District Civil Court was furnished by the Department of Public Works, on a requisition from the Court Clerk; witness' Court never received any of the stationery charged to the Commission.

Mr. Parsons then continued the examination. Witness knew of no stationery being delivered, directly or indirectly, to any member of the Commission; signed the certificate on the faith of Judge McQuade; there was no bill attached or items filled out when witness signed his name; did not know Charles E. Wilbour, who indorsed the warrant; had heard of his connection with the City frauds; believed the signature to the certificate for furniture, &c., supplied by Ingersoll & Co., $6,873 17 was in witness' handwriting; the bill was not attached when the certificate was signed; as a general answer, he would say that there were no items or amounts filled in on any of the certificates when signed; knew Ingersoll, who was the one wanted for a time, and finally turned up in the hands of the Sheriff; knew of none of the articles of furniture, carpet, oil-cloth, &c., as specified on the bill, being supplied; never saw them, and knew nothing of them, directly or indirectly; Ingersoll certainly furnished the Civil Court room, but that was early in 1870; thought that was done by direction of the Department of Public Works or Common Council; the articles were supplied certainly several months before the date of the bill attached to the certificate, which is December 20, 1870; if any furniture was supplied at that time it certainly was not for the Ninth District Civil Court; witness never received $1,000, or any sum in connection with the Court-house, except the moneys paid to Mr. Brown through witness from Wynants.

Judge Porter here examined the certificate accompanying the warrant No. 4,631, dated Dec. 22, 1870, for $3,500, in favor of John E. Wilson, and positively asserted that the name of Josiah Porter, attached to it, was not in his handwriting.

Examination continued—Witness knew George A. T. Lynch, the father-in-law of H. W. Genet; Lynch presented the certificates to witness for signature, waited until they were signed and then took them with him; did not know Lynch's handwriting; did not know that he claimed to act as Clerk to the Commission; would not like to assert that the signature to the certificate for warrant No. 4,631 was in the same handwriting as the body of the paper; the warrant on which the money was drawn was indorsed by H. W. Genet; witness believed the signature to the certificate for $27,100 in favor of John Scallon, Feb. 28, 1871, was written by him; the bill was not presented with it, or witness never would have signed a certificate; the materials not delivered; the warrant was indorsed John Scallon and H. W. Genet, and stamped by the Yorkville Savings Bank; had heard that H. W. Genet was President of the bank, and Judge McQuade Vice-President; had seen the house on Fifth-avenue that was built for Genet; saw it last Winter for the first and only time; the house is a handsome one; did not go inside; the house must have been built during the time of the construction of the Court-house; did not know if the same person erected both.

In answer to Judge Waterbury, witness said he paid the expenses for disbursements in examining the title to the lots, and was repaid by Genet; the sum was less than $50.

In reply to Mr. Trull, witness said that after the first meeting of the Commission he was never notified to attend any other; had no idea, when he signed the certificates, that they would be used for the purpose to which they were applied, namely, of attaching bills thereto and drawing money; witness signed many in a hurry; Lynch brought them while he was trying a case in his Court, and supposing they were requisitions on the Department of Public Works, witness signed them without even reading the printed part; supposing he was signing in triplicate, which is the course adopted with requisitions in the National Guard, and used to be the course in the Street Department.

To Mr. PARSONS witness further testified that Lynch called him one day into the Police Court and said that Judge McQuade had left a number of papers for him to sign, and from the conversation witness was led to believe they were requisitions; had conversed with Judge McQuade about the way they had been used, the night before the last election; Judge McQuade appeared to be as much surprised as himself, and said he did not believe the money had been expended; the night before the election of 1871 witness ascertained that the charges made in the newspapers were substantially true; McQuade expressed a willingness to try and have the money restored, but both were at a loss to know how to trace the matter up.

Senator TIEMANN—Do you suspect any one as being connected with these frauds?

Judge Waterbury, counsel for Genet, indignantly objected and protested against the question, and it was finally withdrawn.

To Mr. PARSONS—Witness did not find out that Genet was the prime mover in the Court-house business any more than Tweed or McQuade, who seemed quite as active; did not know anything Genet did except to purchase the land; saw Genet very seldom after he went to the Senate; had no recollection of seeing him between the election of 1870 and that of 1871; did not even recollect seeing him after the title of the land had been secured until the election of 1870; never had any conversation with him on the Court-house matter.

After a short recess, John Gillelan, Secretary of the Yorkville Savings Bank, was recalled, and produced copies of the tickets accompanying Genet's deposits in the Yorkville Savings Bank, so far as he had been able to find them; the warrant on the Broadway Bank for $5,000, made payable to H. W. Genet on Oct. 19, 1870, was received on deposit to Genet's account, and passed through the National Bank of the Commonwealth; also the warrant for Lewis Baker, same date, for $500; the latter was indorsed Lewis Baker and H. W. Genet; warrant for John Scallon, $5,940 50, dated Nov. 3, 1870, was received at the Bank and credited to Genet; the warrant to John C. Wilson, No. 4,631, (said to have been issued on the certificate to which Judge Porter said his name had been forged,) dated Dec. 3, 1870, for $3,500, was received from Genet and deposited to his credit; warrant No 470, March 4, 1871, in favor of John Scallon for $27,100 (based on a certificate for materials contracted for but not delivered) was deposited in Yorkville Savings Bank on March 6, and passed to Genet's credit; warrant of May 18, 1871, in favor of John Scallon for $17,345, "for work done and materials furnished," was deposited, with a warrant of the same date, in favor of John E. Wilson for $7,737 50, making a deposit of $25,082 50 on May 18, and credited to Genet; on June 22 a warrant dated June 21, 1871, (No. 1,208,) in favor of John Scallon, for $7,301 50, and one for John Halloran, (No. 1,205,) for $4,852, "for stove furnished," were, to the best of witness' belief, deposited to the credit of Genet, an entry in his account showing a deposit on that day of $12,653 50, but, the deposit ticket being missing, he could not positively identify the items of deposit; a warrant in favor of John Scallon for $9,642 50, dated July 14, 1871, was deposited to Genet's credit on July 18; the indorsements of H. W. Genet on the warrants in favor of J. E. Wilson for $7,600, "for cement, lime, &c." and in favor of J. McB. Davidson, for $4,802, "for iron-work," witness could not identify; witness was Secretary of the bank and did the general duties incident to that position; sometimes had occasion to pay drafts and receive deposits, although that was generally done by the teller; sometimes the teller would appeal to him when a signature was considered doubtful; often had occasion to examine into and consider signatures; could not tell whether the indorsements of J. McB. Davidson and H. W. Genet on the warrant for $4,802 were written by the same person; should, however, think they were written by different persons; the matter of signatures was now such a ticklish subject, he would not even hazard an opinion; all the warrants shown purported to be indorsed by the payee and H. W. Genet.

To Mr. WATERBURY—According to the ordinary way of business, the warrant (No. 4,631) for $3,500, in favor of John E. Wilson must have been deposited by Genet and passed to his credit.

Charles Thwing, bank-clerk and receiving-teller at the National Bank of the Commonwealth, proved seriatim the passage of the warrants through his bank to the Broadway Bank from the Yorkville Savings Bank.

At the close of this witness' examination the inquiry was adjourned until today.

The Gotham Murder—Burns Escapes from the Lunatic Asylum and is Recaptured.

The unprovoked murder of John Halloran, who was shot by James Burns, a City Marshal, while in the saloon known as the "Gotham," in the Bowery, near Houston-street, on the morning of the 28th of April last, and who died at Bellevue Hospital on the 6th of May following, caused considerable excitement. Burns, who had been drinking freely, in mere wantonness, fired two shots at Halloran, from the effects of which he died. Burns was brought to trial before Recorder Hackett at the General Sessions. A plea of insanity was entered, and a verdict of acquittal was rendered. The Recorder therefore consigned Burns to the State Lunatic Asylum at Utica. Soon after his commitment his counsel applied to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of his client, on the ground that, although he was insane at the time he committed the murder, he had since that time regained his senses, and that it was unlawful to confine a sane man in a lunatic asylum. The Judge before whom the case was argued rendered a decision against Burns, and he was sent back to the asylum at Utica. He remained there quietly until about two weeks ago, when he managed to elude the vigilance of his keepers and escaped from the asylum. He was not seen about his usual haunts until yesterday, when he was observed in the Bowery by Capt. Edward Walsh, of the Seventeenth Precinct, who arrested him. He was locked up at Police Head-quarters, and will be taken back to Utica today.

Business in the Court of General Sessions.

Recorder Hackett presided in the Court yesterday, and disposed of a large amount of business. Henry Smith, a well-known confidence operator, indicted on eight separate charges, was placed at the bar to answer a charge preferred by Mrs. Emily Holmes, of No. 50 East Third-street. She testified that on the 4th of July the prisoner came to her house and represented that her brother had been arrested on a charge of assault and battery. He offered to secure the release of Mrs. Holmes' brother on the payment by her of $15. She paid the money, and learned later in the day that she had been swindled. Some days ago, Smith was convicted of grand larceny. On that charge the Recorder sent him to State Prison for five years at hard labor, and upon the charge preferred by Mrs. Holmes, of which the jury found him guilty, to State Prison for three years.

Charles Gordon, indicted for highway robbery, pleaded guilty to petty larceny from the person. The prisoner, on being sentenced to five years' imprisonment at hard labor, turned defiantly to the Recorder, and exclaimed: "Is that all yer can do; can't yer gi' me any more?" To which the Recorder replied, he was sorry that he could not.

Ellen Williams and Mary Taylor, two rather well-dressed women, pleaded guilty to grand larceny, and were sent to State Prison, each for three years and six months.

Ed. T. Cox, a private detective of Broadway, was arraigned on a charge of pawning a box of jewelry intrusted to his care for safe keeping by Mrs. Mary Bergen, of Brooklyn, and appropriating the proceeds to his own use. Cox's partner, King, was jointly indicted with him, but a separate trial was granted. The complainant had been for many years a friend of the prisoner, and fearing to keep the box of jewelry at her home, intrusted it to him for safe keeping. The defense was that Cox, becoming financially embarrassed, and relying on his friendship with Mrs. Bergen, pawned the jewels to relieve himself. Sentence was deferred until Friday. It appearing that King was in no way implicated, he was discharged.

Patrick Clifford, for the murder of Mary A. Gallagher, was arraigned. Some delay was occasioned in securing a jury. After the jury had been sworn, a few witnesses were examined, and from their testimony it appeared that on the 10th of May last the deceased received several kicks in the abdomen and sustained injuries from which she died a few days afterward at Bellevue Hospital. Beyond the fact that Clifford was seen, on the night in question, in the girl's company, nothing in the testimony yet adduced connects him with the murder. The trial will be resumed this morning.

The Second-Avenue Railroad Franchise.

The Second-avenue Railroad Extension Commissioners, Messrs. Martin, Stivers and Tappan, who were appointed to estimate the value of the franchise granted to the Company, held an adjourned meeting yesterday at No. 82 Nassau-street, at which Mr. Butler, of the Sixth-avenue Railroad, was examined in relation to the value of railroad franchises. A number of exhibits, setting forth the location of the road, &c., were put in, and, after argument by counsel, the hearing was adjourned till this morning.

A Fraudulent Check Operator Again Captured.

Manuel Cortez, alias Fernandez, alias Frenchy, a well-known bogus-check operator, whose exploits have been before published in the TIMES, was arrested yesterday on a bench-warrant, in which he stands charged with having defrauded Herman Kohler, of First-avenue and Thirtieth-street, out of $600, by means of a fraudulent check. There are a large number of complaints lodged against him, and among his victims are James Donelson, of No. 74 East Ninth-street, from whom he obtained $316; H. C. Fischer, No. 135 West Twenty-sixth-street, who was defrauded out of $15; Steinway & Sons, who were victimized out of $215. All the above-named parties called at Police Head-quarters yesterday, and fully identified the accused. He will be taken to the District-Attorney's office today, and committed to await trial.

THE RING FRAUDS.

Demurrer to the Civil Suits in Supreme Court, Special Term—Decision Reserved.

In the eight suits brought in the name of the Supervisors of the County against Tweed, Connolly, Davidson, Ingersoll, and Miller, in the Supreme Court, Special Term, to recover money to a large amount claimed to have been fraudulently obtained from the City, it will be remembered that a demurrer had been interposed, on the ground that the people of the State should have been plaintiffs instead of the Supervisors. A demurrer was also interposed in similar suits for the same matters brought against the same parties, in which the people of the State were plaintiffs, and after argument before the General Term at Albany, the demurrer was overruled, and the right of the State to prosecute the suits sustained. Argument on the demurrer in the present cases was to have taken place yesterday before Judge Barrett, but resulted in submitting the cases without argument, and in conjunction with a certified copy of the opinion of the General Term at Albany.

Counsel for Tweed, in a few remarks preliminary to the submission of the cases, urged that the decision in Albany was to the extent that a party could not be liable on the same matter to two separate plaintiffs; and, while they were, and still are, of opinion that the Supervisors are the proper parties plaintiff, they and this Court were bound to respect the decision of the General Term at Albany until reversed.

On the part of the Supervisors it was claimed that the determination at Albany that the State had a right of action against the defendants did not preclude a right of action by the Supervisors, nor did it bind the Supervisors, they not being parties to the record before it. Moreover, the Court at Albany had not gone into the question of collusion, which was raised before it on the argument.

It was finally settled that each side submit to the Court briefs in the suits against Tweed, Connolly and Fields, the same as those argued at Albany, and that the cases against the other defendants go over the term.

Decision reserved in the cases submitted.

The same array of counsel who have been heretofore mentioned in connection with these suits were present.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH IN HARLEM.

Strange Conduct of a Deputy Coroner—The Remains of the Deceased to be Exhumed—Alleged Ill-Treatment on a British Steamer.

On Monday Dr. Chas. P. Russell, Register of Vital Statistics of the Health Department, sent an official communication to the Coroners' office, to the effect that on the previous Saturday evening a permit had been granted by the officials of the Board of Health for the interment of Nicholas Seabrook, of No. 182 East One Hundred and Twenty-third-street, whose death was certified by Dr. Brockway, of No. 152 East One Hundred and Twenty-seventh-street, as having occurred from typhoid fever. After the permit had been granted, it was discovered on Monday that in the certificate of death Dr. Brockway had given the primary cause of death as "ill-treatment on board steamer Oceanic, from Liverpool," and Dr. Russell, therefore, deemed it his duty to inform the Coroner of the facts in the case, although it was feared that the body of deceased had already been interred.

The case was assigned to Coroner Keenan for investigation, and Deputy Coroner Wooster Beach was detailed to make the preliminary examination. Yesterday Dr. Beach entered the Coroners' office in an excited manner and, throwing the official communication from Dr. Russell on the clerk's desk, exclaimed, petulantly: "What did you send a fellow up there for. There's nothing in that case; the body has been buried, and it's all right." This was all the explanation that Dr. Beach vouchsafed to the reporters, who were anxious to obtain the particulars, as the case had been carefully suppressed until that moment. He, however, added that he had seen Dr. Brockway and it was all right, but refused to give any further explanation.

It could not be learned whether Seabrook was a sailor or passenger on board the Oceanic, nor what was the nature of the ill-treatment he had received while on the steamer, or by whom he was ill-treated. The friends of the deceased are, however, moving in the matter, and it is said that they intend to have the remains of Seabrook exhumed, when, it is hoped, an investigation will be made more searching and satisfactory than that of Dr. Wooster Beach. When exhumed the remains will be taken to the Morgue, where an autopsy will be made.

Annexation to New-York—Lack of Morrisania's Pure Water.

The scheme in favor of annexing the town of Morrisania, and possibly the town of West Farms, and that portion of Yonkers lying south of the limits of the City of Yonkers, to New-York, has been revived, and seems to meet with considerable encouragement, especially among the citizens of Morrisania, who most feel the necessity of obtaining an inexhaustible supply of pure water from some source or other.

Although it is believed that New-York needs all the pure water she can obtain for her own use, while Rye Lake would be an ample source of supply for all the towns on the east side of Westchester County for ages to come, if not for all time, the cost of carrying out the project and the presumed difficulty of obtaining the necessary amounts of funds by sale of bonds or otherwise seems likely to deter the right class of persons from taking the lead in such an undertaking.

The tunnel which is about to be constructed under the Harlem River, from the head of Seventh-avenue to the Westchester side, expected to involve Westchester County to the extent of $500,000 to $750,000, and the proposed suspension bridge over the same river at another point about as much more, frighten many of the property-owners in the lower towns of Westchester County into the idea that their taxes are likely to be much heavier than they would be annexed to the great Metropolis. Under these circumstances the advocates of annexation have greatly increased in numbers, and as soon as the Legislature meets petitions will be presented from Morrisania and other towns praying for immediate annexation.

Application for a Mandamus Against the Board of Supervisors.

Application was, yesterday, made in Supreme Court, Chambers, before Judge Fancher, for a writ of mandamus to compel the Board of Supervisors to audit and allow a claim of James T. Turnure for $2,500 for rent of a drill-room in Fourth-avenue. The defense is that the act of 1872 specially omitted to make provision for payment of drill-room rents for 1871; that this class of claims, under the statute, rested exclusively in the control of the Finance Department and could be allowed only by the Audit Board of that Department, but which, until provision was made in the matter by the next Legislature, could take no action. Decision reserved.

Proceedings in Oyer and Terminer—Prisoners Disposed of.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday, Judge Brady on the bench, Martin Tiernay, a boy of twelve years old, pleaded guilty to having assisted two other boys in the commission of a burglary. It appearing that the boy had borne a previous good character, sentence was suspended. J. G. Douglas, a boy, indicted for embezzlement from Wells, Fargo & Co., of $130, pleaded guilty, but was remanded for further examination on the representation of his counsel, Mr. Hummel, that he had recently been confined in the lunatic asylum. Charles Davis was convicted of grand larceny in stealing a ship chain and sentenced to five years in States Prison. John Wren pleaded guilty to burglary in the third degree and was sent to the Penitentiary for one year. The Court then adjourned to this morning.

The National Rifle Association.

There was a regular meeting of the Directors of the National Rifle Association yesterday, at No. 194 Broadway. The proposed competitive practice at the Range, at Cranmoore, Long Island, was considered. The Secretary, Mr. Wingate, reported that the grounds were not in order, and probably would not be in time for the competition, and stated that the cost for fencing and otherwise preparing the grounds, including the embankment and the imported targets and mantlets, would not be much less than $10,000. The bill for the imported targets and mantlets, amounting to $4,014 13, was ordered to be paid.

The embankment, for the target practice, which was to have been twenty-five feet in height by this time, is as yet only twelve feet. The railroad conveniences do not promise to be what they should be in time for the competition, and the donators of the prizes do not care to have them shot for until all is in readiness for a fine display. It was, therefore, concluded that the competition should not take place this season. Before adjournment it was announced that the Tenth Company, Seventh Regiment, had joined the association, that companies of the Thirteenth and Twentieth had been reported, and that the $5,000 appropriated to the use of the Association by the City was now awaiting the order of the Directors.

THE DONOHUE MURDER.

Sentence of Death Passed Upon Henry Rogers for His Crime.

He Makes a Partial Confession of the Murder and Receives His Death Sentence with Forced Calmness.

The trial of Henry Rogers, for the alleged murder of Officer John Donohue, was resumed in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday. The prisoner, on being brought in, looked pale and anxious. The damaging testimony of Monday had evidently affected him seriously.

Richard McLaughlin was re-called by the defense, and testified as follows:

I said, yesterday, the blow struck by Rogers was on Donohue's head; cannot say exactly where it took effect; Donohue fell face downward, with his head toward Union-avenue; would think that such a blow on the back of the head would turn him round.

This closed the case for the people, and Counselor Edson opened the defense, stating that they expected to prove that after the prisoner had struck the deceased one blow, which was admitted, the club or cart-rung was taken by another of the party, who dealt him another blow, and that he was also beaten by others with an earthen beer-bottle, which latter blows caused death. The testimony was then submitted as follows:

Mary Britton was first sworn: Reside in Hope-street opposite McGoldrick's saloon; heard singing on the sidewalk on the night of the 6th of July; saw Officer Donohue coming up to where the party were; heard the officer tell them to stop singing; then saw a club swinging in the air, and saw flashes of light stream up from the pavement as if some hard substance had struck the flag-stones; went out and ran across the street; saw Officer Donohue lying there; picked his hat up out of the gutter and put it by his feet; did not see Donohue fall; do not know who struck the blow; heard one of the retreating men say, "Poor Jack Donohue, that is the last of you;" saw no bottles.

The prisoner, Henry Rogers, was then placed on the stand. Witness made an unsuccessful effort to look calm. He said: He had been a member of an engine company with Officer Donohue two and a half years; served in the army four years; had never had an unfriendly word with the deceased; was on terms of intimate friendship with him; had a friendly talk with him on Friday, the day before the affair occurred; did not see him again until Saturday night; was never in the habit of associating with any of the witnesses who had testified; knew the Battle-row party, but was not a member of it; the crowd designated frequent McGoldrick's; never had any difficulty with any of the witnesses; drank seven or eight times that night at the Alhambra; went out about ten minutes to twelve, with Sullivan and Kelly, to McGoldrick's; took there two drinks of beer; after fifteen or twenty minutes went out of McGoldrick's, and took a wooden bar, as on other nights, to "cop" the fellows who were sleeping around there; did not hear Donohue's name mentioned; gave the stick to McGoldrick, who gave me that cart-rung; took it and went out and stood by the coal-box; Hilbut, Flint, Gardner, Clarke, and Ritchey were there; heard one of them say, "Let's lay Donohue out;" think it was Gibson; Gardner commenced singing "Down Among the Coal Mines;" Donohue came along and told them to stop singing or go inside; Denver then said, "Let's lay him out;" I struck Donohue with a stick; I did not break it; did not call him the bad name mentioned by witnesses; did not say "I will kill him;" struck him on the side of the head, and he fell; Denver picked up the stick and struck him twice on the head; the second time the stick broke in three pieces; had no intention to kill Donohue, only to lay him out a little; saw Ritchey strike him with a bottle, and heard other blows with bottles; Gibson kicked Donohue and Denver threw a good-sized stone at him while he was lying down; did not think the officer was killed; I assisted in putting Donohue into the wagon, and then I stood there about ten minutes.

The District-Attorney cross-examined the witness, who repeated the statements made on the direct, adding that he was urged to strike Donohue by Denver, and that he (witness) was much under the influence of liquor, which was the cause of his assenting.

The arguments were brief, and the jury, after being charged by Judge Gilbert, retired. After an absence of about three hours, the jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. The prisoner heard the verdict without much apparent emotion. A solemn stillness pervaded the crowded Court-room while the verdict was being rendered.

Mr. Davis, of counsel for the prisoner, gave notice that he would move for a writ of error and stay of proceedings. District-Attorney Britton then moved that sentence be pronounced. Judge Gilbert told the prisoner to rise, and asked him whether he had anything to say why the sentence of death should not be pronounced on him. The prisoner replied: "I have nothing to say." The Judge then proceeded to briefly review the case, attributing the position he was placed in to liquor and bad associates, and urged him to prepare himself for the fate that inevitably awaited him, and concluding with saying that it now only remained for him to pass the sentence of the law. The sentence was that the prisoner, Henry Rogers, be hung by the neck until he is dead, on Friday, the 6th day of December, 1872, between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M. of said day.

The prisoner heard his sentence calmly. He was then removed to his prison cell.

THE BIENVILLE.

The Investigation Continued—Testimony of Capt. Maury and the First Mate.

The United States Board of Steam-boat Inspectors resumed their investigation at No. 23 Pine-street, yesterday, into the loss of the Pacific Mail steam-ship Bienville.

Capt. Jefferson Maury, commander of the Bienville, was the first witness examined. His official report of the disaster, being submitted in evidence and sworn to by him, the examination proceeded. He testified that before sailing on the 10th of August, he examined the pumps, life-boats, &c., and that they were all in good order. Up to the morning of the 15th there was no weather which could have caused the freight to shift. The first mate was ordered to equip and lower the boats, when it was determined to abandon the vessel. The two largest were 25 feet in length, and very heavy; and the seamen and quartermasters were distributed among the different boats, so that there were two in each; the first three boats launched were each put in charge of an assistant engineer; the fourth boat was capsized, and had a hole stove in her bottom while passing under the ship's quarter; the passengers were picked up by another boat stationed at some distance off; the dingee, the smallest boat, was sent off with sixteen persons aboard; the small quarter-boat was filled with those who still remained on the ship, and she was placed in charge of the first mate, who was ordered to distribute the passengers among the other boats, and then return to the steamer for more; when the fire broke out more fiercely, I signaled this boat to return, which she did, and then I left the ship, the fire then having reached almost every part of her; he pulled to windward of the other boats, to distribute officers and render assistance; his own boat was so deeply laden it was in danger of swamping; every effort was made to keep it afloat, while other boats were hailed to come and lighten it; the nearest land was Watling's Island, sixty-five miles distant, but the wind and sea prevented a run being made for that, and witness therefore stood off for Eleuthera Island; the fire originated, he thought, in some defect in the back connections of the boiler, allowing the escape of sparks among the coal; did not think the final explosion, which he only saw at some distance, was caused by the combustibles aboard; there were not enough, he thought, to cause that; he supposed the bursting of the boilers did it; the witness had not thought of any explosion while he was on board during the fire; the boat which is supposed to have been lost, and which was subsequently picked up empty near Eleuthera, was one of the largest and best boats aboard; she was fitted with cork at either end, was well provisioned, and in every respect stanch and tight; there had been no heavy weather, and witness felt convinced that the boat had been met by some passing sailing-vessel, and the crew been taken off; he thought it probable the vessel was bound for some European port, the boat lying in the track of vessels making that voyage, and this accounted for the fact that nothing had been heard of the people.

Frederick Hargear, chief mate of the Bienville, was next examined. His testimony related principally to the storage of the cargo and the circumstances attending the departure of the boats. He was of the same opinion in regard to the origin of the fire as Capt. Maury, viz., that some defect in the boiler, allowing the escape of sparks among the anthracite coal, caused it. No new facts were elicited from this witness.

The investigation was then adjourned till today, when it will be concluded.

A Fugitive Forger Arrested—How He Was Trapped in this City.

On Saturday, Mr. E. M. Archibald, the British Consul at this port, received a cable telegram from Sub-Inspector Mullarkey, of Charleville, Ireland, announcing that Dennis Noonan, who had committed forgeries on the National Bank of Ireland, at Charleville, had taken passage on the City of Brooklyn, for New-York, and requesting his arrest. The dispatch stated that Noonan's wife had telegraphed to Thomas McCarthy, No. 38 Pine-street, to have a boat ready to take Noonan off the steamer as soon as she came into port, and gave an accurate description of the fugitive. Detectives Tully and Kelso were sent to Staten Island, and there watched until Monday, when the steamer was signaled. When it had passed the Quarantine station the detectives boarded her and were allowed to inspect all the cabin passengers. None of these answered the description of Noonan, and the detectives turned to the steerage passengers. Yesterday they were mustered on deck for examination by the surgeon of the Emigration Commissioners. During this examination the detectives noticed a young man who answered the description they had received of the fugitive forger, but whose name appeared on the passenger list as James Mooney, and they watched his movements closely until he landed at the Castle Garden dock. Detective Tully approached him, and tapping him on the shoulder called him by name. Taken by surprise, he turned about and answered, thereby convincing the detectives that they had the right man. He was taken to Police Head-quarters. He acknowledged that his name was Dennis Noonan, and that he came from Charleville, but denied any knowledge of the forgery. Subsequently, however, he admitted that he had forged his brother's signature to a check for £90 on the branch of the National Bank of Ireland at Charleville to obtain funds to enable him and his wife to emigrate to this country. The action of the British Consul, who had telegraphed the fact of the arrest of Noonan to Sub-Inspector Mullarkey, will determine his disposition.

STOLEN CHECKS—IMPORTANT TO BANKERS AND BROKERS.

Louisa J. Nolan vs. The Bank of New-York.—This was an action on a check for $5,000, gold, dated the 21st of January, 1865, by Matthew Morgan & Sons, on the Bank of New-York, payable to their own order, and by them indorsed in blank and certified by the bank. On the 4th of February, in the same year, this check was shown to be in the possession of and to belong to the firm of Meyer & Greve, bankers and brokers, carrying on business at No. 52 Exchange-place, in this City. One of their clerks on that day was instructed to deliver such check to the firm of Robinson & Cox, gold brokers in Wall-street, and while he was going from Exchange-place to Wall-street the check was stolen out of the pocket of his overcoat. Payment of the check was immediately stopped, and notice of the loss fully given by distribution of handbills and notice by advertisement in the public prints. No tidings of the check being had, on an indemnity from Meyer & Greve, Messrs. Morgan & Sons issued a duplicate check, which was certified and paid by the bank. In the month of June, 1868, more than three years after the loss, the stolen check was presented on behalf of the plaintiff, and payment being refused this action was brought. It appeared from the evidence that the plaintiff, in the spring of 1868, was a boarder at the St. Charles Hotel, in New-Orleans, where she made the acquaintance of a Mr. Allen, through whom she made a loan to a stranger to her, on this gold check as collateral, of $4,000. There was no evidence to show that she had any knowledge of the theft of the check, and it was contended by her counsel that, under the decision of Murray vs. Lardner, 2 Wallace, 110, and Welsh vs. Sage, 47 New York, 143, that she was entitled, as a matter of law, to a judgment for the whole amount of the check, it being claimed that the certification by the Bank gave a new character to the instrument, and made it equally negotiable as a bank bill or a coupon bond. In opposition to this view, it was claimed by defendants' counsel that the certification had no such effect, and that the time which had elapsed from the date of the check in 1865, to April, 1868, made it no longer negotiable, and deprived the plaintiff of all right as a bona-fide holder.

The Court sustained the view presented by defendants' counsel, and directed a verdict in their favor.

B. K. Phelps, for plaintiff; T. C. T. Buckley, for defendants.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—OCT. 22.

Before Chief-Justice Barbour and a Jury.

A CASE OF MALPRACTICE—A VERDICT AGAINST THE SURGEON.

Margaret Ward vs. Ignatz Will.—This was an action by the mother to recover $5,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained by her little daughter, aged five years, through the malpractice of the defendant. In 1869, it appeared, the little girl injured her right hand, and defendant, being called in, bandaged the wrist as for a fracture. Nine days after the dressing, the child being in great pain, a second surgeon was called in, and found that the bandage had been put on so improperly and drawn so tight, that the arm had mortified, and it became necessary to remove the splints and cut open the arm. The result of the improper bandaging, as testified to by Drs. Sayres and Elsinger, was that the child lost two fingers, and had her hand otherwise deformed; and moreover, that there had been no fracture of the bone for which it had been originally bandaged. It was intimated during the argument of the case that the defendant, who had made no appearance, had left the City, and that there were grave doubts if he had ever been a properly licensed surgeon. The jury gave a verdict for the full amount claimed.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART II.—OCT. 22.

Before Judge Monell and a Jury.

THE LAW OF USURY—ALLEGED FRAUD OF ONE PARTNER AGAINST COPARTNERS.

John J. Rockwell vs. Emil C. Calm et al.—This was an action to recover on a note for $3,000, the defense being usury. It was claimed on the part of defendant that, during his absence in Europe, the present note, with about $40,000 more in notes and drafts, were made by his partner in fraud of his (plaintiff's) rights, and, through the agency of Edwin James, formerly a lawyer of this City, and an English broker, both of whom are now absent from the country, sold them at a large discount. This was held by the Court to constitute a case of usury, and it dismissed the complaint.

FREIGHTS—The feature of business, in the way of berth freights, today, was the unusual activity in the line of Grain engagements. The Liverpool steamers reduced their Grain rates materially, inducing free shipments to the extent of about all the available room at the current figures. Room by sail was not plenty and was comparatively firm, with a good demand for accommodation, chiefly from Grain shippers. Apart from which the offerings of Cotton were fair, and of provisions and general cargo, moderate, at the ruling quotations. In the way of charters, there was less animation. Vessels suited to the Grain, Petroleum and Cotton trades were not offered freely, and were quoted about steady, but were in no less urgent request. In other lines there was not much movement and rates were about as before....For Liverpool, the reported engagements, since our last, have been, by sail, 1,500 bales Cotton at ¼d. ₱ lb.; 65,000 bushels Corn at 9¼d. ₱ bushel; 450 bbls. Fifty Thousand Dollars' Worth of Railroad Bonds Probably Stolen.

Yesterday morning Owen O'Connor, a capitalist and dealer in railway securities, withdrew $50,000 worth of Hannibal and St. Joseph Railway Convertible Eight per cent. Bonds from the Safe Deposit Company on Broadway, which he was about to place in the hands of brokers in New-street. After obtaining the securities, Mr. O'Connor proceeded to transact some business, and, while in the street, the bonds were either dropped by him or taken from his pocket by thieves. It is conjectured that they were stolen as several gentlemen have recently been followed by pickpockets after withdrawing money and deposits from the Safety Deposit Company. Payment of the bonds has been stopped, and as they cannot be negotiated by any one except their owner, it is probable that they will come to light soon. The numbers of the missing bonds are as follows:

Nos. 2,682, 2,686, 2,984, 139 to 145, 3,033 to 3,035, 3,480 to 3,484, 2, 210, 3,294, 3,226, 3,227, 3,437, 3,431, 410 to 434, of $1,000 each, and Nos. 3,987 and 4,022 of $500 each.

Fatal Accidents.

James Daly, aged twelve, of No. 309 Third-avenue, died at Bellevue Hospital yesterday from the effects of injuries received about two weeks ago by being run over by a horse and wagon.

Matthew Hanrahan, a laborer, thirty-five years of age, who had his left leg fractured by a stone falling upon it while at work at the new Asylum on Blackwell's Island, died yesterday at Bellevue Hospital.

Patrick Geaney, aged thirty-five, residing at No. 403 West Fifty-fourth-street, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon while at work at the Western Union Telegraph Company's building, at the corner of Broadway and Dey-street, by a derrick falling upon him.

Commissioners of Emigration.

The Commissioners of Emigration met yesterday at Castle Garden. Commissioners Hart, Kauffmann, Forrest, Lynch, Wallach and Willmann were present. Commissioner Hart occupied the chair in the absence of the President.

Communications were received from many of the steam-ship companies, in response to the letter of Superintendent Casserly, stating that in compliance with the wishes of the Commissioners of Emigration they had placed stewardesses on board of the different steamers of their lines to attend to the wants of the female emigrant passengers.

A resolution was adopted that nurses employed in the lying-in wards of Ward's Island Hospital be mothers.

The Board then adjourned.

TUESDAY, Oct. 22—P. M.

The Bank of Montreal, (New-York Agency,) called in a very large amount of Gold for some time lent on the Street, and at the same time called in loans of Currency, on temporary employment among the Brokers. These rather unexpected movements on large sums of both Gold and Currency, without notice, had more effect upon Gold than upon the Money market. The Gold Brokers had to look round pretty sharp this morning for the Cash Gold, or Gold for delivery today, and from some cause not explained, whether at the instigation of the Bank of Montreal or on the motion of some third party who happened to know what the Bank had called in, the lending rate at an early hour was made ½@⅝ ⅌ cent. a day, and so held until after the clearings at the Gold Exchange Bank were adjusted. The rate then fell to a sixteenth of one ⅌ cent.

The Currency loans called in by the Bank referred to had less effect, because, in turn, the Bank had to pay out the Currency again for Gold. The Stock Brokers were supplied with Money, with less ease than yesterday, at 6@7 ⅌ cent. most of the day, and closed within this quotation at 3 o'clock.

In the Foreign Exchanges business was brought almost to a stand by the scarcity of Gold and the suddenly-announced rates for its daily use. Bills on London were done at a concession of ⅛@¼ ⅌ cent. from Monday's quotations; prime 60 days at 108⅝@108¾ ⅌ cent.

The sales of Gold were at 112⅞@113@113⅛@113 ⅌ cent. The market was made somewhat firm because of the change in the supply of the Cash Gold. The Treasury is paying out from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000 per day on the November Gold Interest, the effect of which payments should be felt in the open market in a day or two.

The Stock Exchange movement was again very active. The speculation in Western Telegraph, Pacific Mail and many of the New-York and Western Roads is on an immense scale, but after the great rise since Friday and Saturday last the course of the market is less steadily upward, and there is evidently a good deal of realizing on the Stocks which have gone up most—like Telegraph and Pacific Mail. At the same time the friends of these Stocks are represented as being determined to put them higher after indulging the fluctuations of 1@2@3 ⅌ cent. from day to day. The fresher movements in Lake Shore, North-west and Union Pacific since Saturday are showing increased demand, though marked by the same fluctuations, today, that checked the buoyancy of Telegraph and Pacific Mail. North-west sold as high as 76 ⅌ cent. and then fell back to 74½ ⅌ cent., and Union Pacific 40 and then at 39⅜ ⅌ cent. The disturbance in Gold and the reported calling in of Currency loans this morning had a partially adverse influence on the Stock market, and prices in the Afternoon were rather weaker as a rule than at the early Board.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

FISK & HATCH,
No. 5 NASSAU-ST., NEW-YORK.

DEPOSITS received, on which we allow interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum. Special arrangements made with savings banks and others depositing large amounts.

We issue CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT, available in all parts of the country, and bearing interest in case of special deposit.

We make COLLECTIONS for merchants and others in all parts of the country.

Orders for INVESTMENT STOCKS and BONDS executed at the Stock Exchange, on commission, for cash.

We deal in GOVERNMENT BONDS, and make a specialty of a few FIRST-CLASS INVESTMENT Securities, which we can recommend with confidence, viz.:

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO BONDS, six per cent., gold.

CENTRAL PACIFIC BONDS, six per cent., gold.

WESTERN PACIFIC BONDS, six per cent., gold.

The CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO BONDS can now be purchased at rates which render them a very desirable investment, and admit of a considerable advance in price upon the completion of the road.

The Road is so nearly completed that trains are expected to run over the whole line in December, after which the securities will be introduced at the Stock Exchanges, when they should soon take rank with Central Pacifics and other first-class Bonds on finished Roads.

The CENTRAL PACIFIC BONDS are quoted at all the principal Stock Exchanges of the world, and are held as the favorite American security in the European markets, where a large proportion of the entire issue has been absorbed. They are now comparatively scarce in this market.

The WESTERN PACIFIC BONDS, payment of which is assumed by the Central Pacific Railroad Company, by consolidation, and which are, therefore, equal in intrinsic value for investment to the above, we can usually furnish at something less than the current market price of Centrals.

We buy and sell either of the foregoing at current market rates.

Full information furnished upon application at our office, in person or by mail.

We recommend to investors as a Safe and Profitable security. Present price, 90 and accrued interest. Interest payable April and October, at the Union Trust Company, Coupon or Registered. THE NEW-YORK TIMES.
New-York City.

Mr. Fenton's Professor has found another source of hope and comfort. Ethan Allen's letter put him in good spirits, and Augustus Schell's delighted him. Samuel Tilden's circular has afforded him the materials for another "spirited" article. Lastly comes the most cheering circumstance of all. He announces it as follows: "Miss Dickinson Enters the Campaign." Well, that, of course, "settles it," as we were told once before—it is a decisive blow. Why did not some of the Greeleyites think of it before? Schurz, Trumbull, Curtin, Doolittle, Banks—all have been tried, and produced no effect. Why hold back the "crusher" until it is too late to do any good? It is certain that this final orator is worth all the rest put together, for the Professor thus darkly alludes to her qualifications: "Miss Dickinson's peculiar relations to various phases of the campaign will give a special interest to her utterances." That is very mysterious. What are the "peculiar relations" referred to?

Mr. Greeley's paper now mentions boastfully, and as a triumph of right over wrong, that New-York State gave Seymour 10,000 majority in 1868, and Hoffman 33,096 in 1870. Do any of Mr. Greeley's supporters or subscribers remember what he said of these majorities at the time? Was there anything about "fraud," "villainous, stupendous fraud," mentioned on those occasions?

Remember that Friday and Saturday next are the last days for registration, and remember that only those who have been registered this year can vote at the approaching election. Citizens of the Eighth, Tenth, Eleventh, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, and Eighteenth Assembly Districts, remember that your numbers on the registry fall below the proportion of those who have been registered from other districts in the City. The issues at stake in November are too important to admit of any man entitled to vote shirking the obligation this year. Neutrality in the cause of reform is as bad as active hostility.

An important statement from the office of the State Controller will be found in our columns this morning. It shows that a deficiency in the State Treasury of nearly $5,000,000 ($4,937,197 69) was created by the Democracy in the three years preceding the recovery of the Legislature by the Republicans. To meet this deficiency a tax of two mills was levied by the last Legislature. The best guard against the recurrence of this special levy will be to restore the whole of the Government to Republican hands.

We are glad to be able to announce that Hon. Alonzo B. Cornell has determined to accept the Republican nomination for Assembly, so handsomely tendered him by the Republicans of the Eleventh Assembly District. In anticipation of this he has already resigned the position of Surveyor of the Port of New-York, which he has occupied for the past three and a half years. The Administration will be fortunate if it is enabled to secure a successor who will fill this office as acceptably as Mr. Cornell has done.

At the weekly Republican rally this evening at Cooper Institute, our readers will have an opportunity to listen to Gov. Noyes, of Ohio, who is one of the most brilliant public men, as he was one of the most gallant soldiers, of the West. Gen. King, of Baltimore, will also speak.

Republican Congressional Nominations.

The Republicans have now named candidates for Congress in the State at Large, and in all the thirty-two districts of the State, except the Sixth (New-York City). On the whole the nominations are good. For Congressman at Large Mr. Lyman Tremain is very much superior to Mr. S. S. Cox. He is a lawyer of very high reputation, his associations during the war were with the country and not against it, and he bears no mark of the Tammany harness, in all of which regards he contrasts with Mr. Cox.

In the Third District, the nomination of Gen. Woodford against Mr. Wm. W. Goodrich ought to secure the district beyond a doubt, and with proper effort it will do so. Gen. Woodford is a man of unblemished reputation, of energy and ability, and is beloved and respected by all parties. Mr. Goodrich is a lawyer whose practice has included a good deal of "counsel" work at Albany, a restless, hungry, ambitious politician, who carried his disappointments to Cincinnati, and seeks to assuage them now by an election to Congress. In the Fourth District, the Republicans have named Philip S. Crook, an independent man, a good lawyer, and very popular, against S. J. Colahan, a professional politician and a delegate to Baltimore. The district ought to be Republican. In this City, John D. Lawson in the Eighth and William A. Darling in the Tenth, stand the best chance of making a break in the solid Democratic delegation in the present Congress. Mr. Lawson is a merchant of enviable reputation and very strong in his district. Mr. Darling we have already spoken of, and his sterling character and popular gifts are too well known to need further attention now. His neighbors will abuse their opportunities if they do not elect him. In the Ninth District Mr. D. B. Mellish is laboring zealously, with great hopes of defeating "Big Judge" Connolly, who is his Tammany opponent. John Hardy runs in the same district on the Apollo Hall ticket. We ought, if we work hard for the few days remaining, to make at least four districts in these two cities, now Democratic, sure for the Republican candidates.

In the other parts of the State we shall undoubtedly hold our own, and probably gain one or two districts. It is creditable to the Republicans that they have named a large proportion of men experienced in Congress. Mr. St. John in the Twelfth, Mr. E. H. Roberts in the Twenty-second, and Mr. Sessions in the Thirty-first, are members of the present Congress. Mr. Freeman Clarke was a member of the Thirty-eighth, and is a member of the Forty-second; Mr. R. H. Duell, of the Twenty-fourth District, was a member of the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, and Forty-second; Mr. Wm. A. Wheeler was a member of the Thirty-seventh, Forty-first, and Forty-second. It is a habit which all constituencies will do well to cultivate, to return their members as long as they serve faithfully and will go. In this way only can they hope to get proper attention in Congress for their local interests, while in this way also they best serve the general interests of the country.

In the Seventeenth District, the Republicans have nominated Mr. R. S. Hale, who has a majority of only 172 to overcome, and ought to overcome it. In the Fifteenth (Albany) District, Mr. Charles H. Adams, present State Senator, and a very capable and popular man, is up against Eli Perry, the present Democratic member. Mr. Perry is a very ignorant man, grossly incompetent for the duties of a representative. He was elected in 1870 by 2,990 majority, and Mr. Adams may be able to overcome this. His friends should spare no effort to secure such a result.

It is impossible to overrate the importance of this Congressional election. Congress, far more than the Executive, shapes the policy of the Government. Under our present system, everything depends on the personal character of the Representatives and the Senators. Let us see, then, if we cannot have in the House of Representatives a delegation that is worthy of the State. It is in our power to do so, with proper effort in each district. Let us labor for twenty-two out of the thirty-three Congressmen in the State. If we work as we ought, they can be secured.

The Latest Somersault of the Tribune.

Have the readers of the Tribune any recollection of what their paper says from one day to another? If they have they must be not a little stupefied by its course in reference to Senator O'Brien and the Mayoralty. For weeks past it has been assailing Mr. O'Brien as the vilest sort of offender—a "convicted thief," a "convict," and we know not what, charges which were all false, but not more so, perhaps, than the accusations brought against Gen. Barlow, Speaker Blaine, and many others by the same journal. The public were told that the Republicans intended to nominate O'Brien, and that it would be a most disgraceful act on their part to do it. And now we have the Tribune saying directly the reverse—namely, that the Republicans are not going to nominate Mr. O'Brien, and that it is disgraceful of them not to do it. The folly, ignorance, and dishonesty which have been so freely exhibited by the Tribune throughout this canvass, seem to reach their height in this Mayoralty business.

It goes even further, and applies itself to showing that Mr. O'Brien will and ought to support the Greeley ticket for President! We should say this was calculated to astonish even the Springfield Republican and similar papers which have declared that O'Brien's support of Grant was enough to ruin Grant in New-York. And now the Tribune is down on its knees before Mr. O'Brien, begging for his "influence" in favor of Greeley. Of all the shamelessly unprincipled acts committed by the Tribune during this campaign, this appears to be the worst. Even its news writers have not been prepared for the somersault cast by the "manager." In one column the name of O'Brien is coupled with the Republican Party. In another a report is headed "O'Brien's brutal protégé bailed." And yet in its leading article it boasts that Mr. O'Brien "dare not oppose the (Greeley) national ticket, and professes himself heartily in favor of that for the State." And this after the positive statements which have been made in the same paper that "O'Brien was for Grant," and the abuse heaped upon the former for daring to oppose Greeley.

Is not this a pretty way to discuss politics? And is it not worthy of the incredible and stupid blundering which Mr. Greeley's own paper has been guilty of throughout this campaign? First, it insults Mr. O'Brien as few men have ever been insulted before, and then it prays to him on bended knees for his support. It would be interesting to hear Greeley's private and candid opinion on the present "management" of his own organ.

The Field Cleared for Action.

Mr. Havemeyer's acceptance of the nomination of the reform organizations is before the people. His acceptance of the Republican nomination will be forthcoming as soon as the official notification has been sent him. And now that the reform candidate for the Mayoralty has made a sacrifice of personal convenience to a sense of public duty, let us see whether the honest voters of the City are prepared to follow a similar course. The reorganization of City affairs is the people's battle, and must be fought as if the honor and self-preservation of each individual depended upon the result. Remember, there is the thinnest possible partition between New-York and a renewal of wholesale plunder and returning chaos. Last year, the popular triumph was sweeping as far as it went, but it could not, in the nature of things, go far enough. Last year the reform element had this advantage on its side, that the lines were sharply drawn between the representatives of the old corruption and the new era of better government. Between Tweed's nominee for Register, for example, and his high-principled opponent, Gen. Sigel, no honest citizen was likely to hesitate long before making a choice. Every one knew what men like Bradley and Genet represented, and every vote cast in their favor was given for the restoration of the Ring and the defeat of honest government. This year an attempt will be made to divide the forces of reform by specious pretenses that the City will be as safe with one class of nominees as with another. To people disposed to listen to this sort of talk, we would merely say: Look less at what a local candidate personally is than at what he represents. When you find journals who defended and apologized for the crimes of Tammany giving a candidate their warm support, regard him with distrust. When men like Brennan and Genet are pulling the strings, never mind what the puppet is like; he is in bad hands, and is intended to be used for base ends.

We trust that none of the friends of reform in the City are giving way to the delusion that we shall have an easy victory this year. The result of last November surprised even Reformers themselves, because there was a good deal of hard work done before the election. If systematic canvassing and well-directed organization are not to be prosecuted with a vigor at least equal to those which accompanied the popular uprising of 1871, the strength of the reform position will be lost before the day of battle. We want merchants, bankers and employers of labor to bestir themselves as earnestly and ardently as they did last year. If they grudge the time and trouble required for this kind of work, they may find before long that what they have saved to their business has been very dearly purchased. We want every Ward organization, every District organization enlisted on the side of reform to work as it on it singly and solely depended the salvation of the City. Our opponents have had the start of us, and we must make up for lost time by extra exertion. There are a great many misconceptions about candidates to be cleared away this year, and no man who has accepted in good faith the reform nominations should feel that he has done his duty till he has brought at least half a dozen apathetic or doubting friends round to the same way of thinking.

We hear, with some concern, that the Ward organizations of the Young Men's Municipal Reform Association are not manifesting the same ardor and energy which they displayed at this stage of the canvass last year. We trust that it is not too late to rally this class of Reformers, once again, to the work which they did so nobly and so well. We do not know of any single force in last year's struggle which was so thoroughly valued by all who were similarly engaged, as that which was exerted by the young Reformers. We know that all of them made great personal sacrifices of time, and some of them temporarily of health and vigor, in the prosecution of the arduous work which they undertook. They found their highest reward then in the esteem and admiration of their fellow-citizens, and they have it in their power to increase their claims upon the gratitude of New-York by once more undertaking the work which is in urgent need of their cooperation. Meetings of some of the Ward organizations of this body are called for to-night. We trust that the response will show that the young Reformers have lost none of their enthusiasm, and none of their determination to be in the vanguard of the battle for the right, at whatever sacrifice.

The Aurora Borealis.

No phenomenon is more beautiful, and none, in many respects, more mysterious, than the Aurora Borealis. To tell what has been conjectured about it would fill a book; to tell what we know "for sure," as children say, will not require much time or space. In the first place, then, the Aurora is in, or on, our atmosphere; it is a terrestrial, not an astronomical, phenomenon. This is evident from many considerations which need not be dwelt upon here. It is enough to say that, in many cases, the position of an auroral streamer can be pretty accurately determined by observations from two or three stations on the earth, some fifty miles or more apart, and we usually find the base of the streamer to be at an elevation ranging from thirty to fifty miles, while its summit attains a height of from 150 to even 600 miles. It has been claimed by some, that they have seen auroral streamers descend between them and a building or a hill. This, however, is so improbable, in view of many other circumstances, that it seems more likely the observers were victims of some illusion. At any rate, we wait for further evidence before accepting the fact. Sometimes the auroral matter drifts through the sky in bands and arches of light. More commonly, when there is any great activity, it collects itself into streamers, as they are called, columns of light, which stand parallel to each other, like so many forest trees. But they do not stand vertically; each places itself as if it were an enormous compass-needle floating free in air. Hence, when the display is perfect, and the observer stands directly underneath, these pillars of fire converge by perspective to one point in the sky, and there form the eye or crown of the aurora. This is situated at that point in the sky to which the dipping-needle is directed—a point about 15° south of the zenith, in our latitudes. This fact of itself proves a connection between the aurora and the earth's magnetism. Moreover, every important auroral display is felt at all the magnetic observatories as a "magnetic storm," which puts all the needles of the different instruments into a state of tremor and excitement.

An aurora in New-York disturbs the instruments at Rome, and does it instantly. The English observatories feel the effects of Australian auroras, at the very hour and minute of their occurrence. Generally the magnetic disturbances are too small to be noticed with an ordinary compass; but sometimes the deviations amount to several degrees, vastly to the disconcertment of any unlucky surveyor who may happen to be running a farm-line at the time—for auroras occur by day as often as by night.

When we inquire in to the cause and nature of the connection between magnetic storms and auroras, we get no certain answer yet; nor is it even settled which is cause and which effect, or whether both series of phenomena, the magnetic and the luminous, may not be the simultaneous effect of some far off action. Here are questions squarely proposed by science, and the probability is that before the century is finished, she will have tortured nature into some reply.

As to the cause of the light, the most probable view, and the one almost universally adopted, is that it is produced by some form of electric discharge through the rarefied gases which form the streamers. This supposition agrees well with the facts observed, such as the flashing and dancing of the light, the magnetic direction of the streamers, and especially the effects upon the telegraph lines, through which, during an aurora, powerful currents pass and repass in the most capricious manner. But the supposition is not without its difficulties; an electric discharge implies two charged bodies, with a medium between them. The earth is one of the bodies; the streamers form the medium of communication—but with what? The question is by no means unanswerable; but of the many answers yet proposed, no one is wholly satisfactory. It may be noted, in this connection, that if we regard the auroral streamers merely as huge magnets drifting over the country, all the telegraphic effects would be accounted for.

As to the nature of the luminous matter we are, as yet, ignorant, but not hopelessly so. The spectroscope has done its best; it informs us that the matter is gaseous and gives us, so to speak, its signature, but as yet chemists cannot decipher and read it. Its spectrum is characterized by a bright line in the greenish yellow, which can be seen under all circumstances when the least auroral light of any kind is visible. This line is not, as has been often stated of late, the same with the bright line which characterizes the spectrum of the sun's corona. When the aurora is very bright and strongly colored, then several other lines and bands, mostly very faint, appear in its spectrum. It is one of the faintest of these faint lines, which seems to coincide with the corona line, and the observations of this aurora line have been so few and so difficult that no great confidence is to be placed in the result. As regards the matter of which the streamers are composed, we must, then, for the present, limit ourselves to asserting that it is gaseous, and is not, probably, the same as ordinary air. Probably, before many years elapse, we shall know more about it.

One remarkable and suggestive fact remains for notice. Remote as is the sun, it is certain that auroral manifestations are, to a certain extent, connected with disturbances of the solar surface. A numerous array of facts points to a most curious, direct, intimate and, as yet, inexplicable relation between the state of affairs at the sun and the magnetic condition of the earth. Prof. Loomis and others have shown that just when the solar surface has been most broken up by spots, then, precisely, auroras have been most numerous and brilliant, and vice versâ. There is a regular period in the frequency and number of the spots, and this same period is observed by the aurora also. Then, of late, many cases have been recorded in which remarkable outbreaks on the sun have been immediately followed by bright auroras on the earth, and the instances have become so numerous and of such a character as quite to preclude the idea of accidental coincidence. To ascertain the cause and nature of this connection is one of the most interesting problems now proposed to science.

"A Lie with Circumstance."

The title is, of course, the Tribune's. It formed the heading of what was called a "specific contradiction" to a "circumstantial calumny." The "calumny" was this: During the session of the Thirty-fourth Congress, Cornelius Wendell held the contract for the public printing. He was desirous of receiving the binding contract also, whose disposal practically rested with the Joint Committee on printing. Mr. Greeley went to a member of that Committee and promised, on behalf of Wendell, to pay twelve thousand dollars, should the recommendation of the Committee be made in his favor. Note now the contrast between the "specific contradiction" which the Tribune was "authorized" to make a week ago, and the virtual admission of the charge which it makes yesterday:

THE CONTRADICTION.	THE ADMISSION.
1. Mr. Greeley never asked any one to give Cornelius Wendell either printing or binding, or to vote that he should have either. 2. Mr. Greeley never offered any one money or other valuable consideration as an inducement to vote for any bill, or give any work or job to any person whatever. 3. If Cornelius Wendell ever offered $12,000 for either printing or binding, Mr. Greeley is ignorant of the fact. 4. Mr. Greeley never had any business transaction of any kind with Cornelius Wendell, never received any money from him nor paid any to him, and does not know that Wendell ever offered or paid money to any one for either printing or binding.—Tribune, Oct. 14.	The name of Mr. T. T. Flagler is now given as responsible for the charge; and it appears from his statement that Mr. Greeley told Flagler that Wendell would give for this job $12,000, "which," he added, "would be useful for election purposes." Useful to whom? Useful to Mr. Flagler? To Mr. Greeley? Was any individual to profit by this payment? What Mr. Greeley did suggest to Mr. Flagler was that this contract should be given to some one (he did not care whom) who would agree to devote a share of its profits to the Republican cause in the Presidential canvass then opening, with nearly all the offices and money on the wrong side, as usual. That may have been an error, but it had no taint of personal interest in it.—Tribune, Oct. 21.

There is obviously enough "a lie with circumstance" somewhere about this transaction, but it certainly is not in the charge made by the Poughkeepsie Eagle, and vouched for by Mr. Flagler. Even admitting (and this requires a violent stretch of imagination) that the skulking admission of the Tribune covers all the facts in the case, what a precious piece of hypocrisy it is for the journal that raves so loudly about the iniquity of political assessments, to attempt to justify a transaction like this on grounds of party expediency. The proposal was simply an attempt to bribe a member of Congress, and the money, however applied, was simply to be abstracted from the National Treasury. And this is confessed to be a fit standard of public morality by the journal that has refused to take the word of President Grant, of Senator Wilson, of Speaker Blaine, and of other equally irreproachable public men, against the assertion of a professional slanderer.

Greeleyism on the Homestretch.

Being "on the homestretch," the Greeleyites are preparing for what horsemen call a "spurt," in the desperate hope of saving themselves from being distanced in the race. They know very well that if Mr. Greeley does not carry his own State, no earthly power can keep the Democracy together till another Congressional election. They have no expectation of electing their candidate; but they are bending all their energies to supplement the vote they will strive to gain by fraud and violence in the South by the electoral vote of New-York, and so put off, for a time, the destruction that will otherwise be immediate and certain.

To this end the leaders are trying to rouse the flagging spirit of the local politicians in the election districts. They have prepared an elaborate circular-letter, bearing date at the "Rooms of the Democratic State Committee, St. Nicholas Hotel, New-York, Oct. 21, 1872." This letter is lithographed, to bear to the rural Democrat the appearance of being a personal admonition from the pen of Mr. Tilden, in whose handwriting it is, and who is the principal signer. It is not such a letter as was sent under Mr. Tilden's signature in 1868, asking confidentially for early returns from outside the City. There is no hope now that any such letter would be of use, because there is no chance for a monstrous majority in the City, made to order, to swamp the honest vote of the country districts. This letter is meant for more general reading:

> "Concentrate your attention," it urges, "on YOUR OWN election district.
> Take no risk of losing a vote which extra effort could save to our cause.
>
> Your friends and associates are making the same exertions in every election district in the State.
>
> Turn your eyes from everything but your full duty in your own election district. You have the best opportunity which has occurred in many years of making great and permanent gains in your Assembly district, your county, and in your Congressional and Senatorial districts.
> The way to do this is for YOU to exert yourself to the utmost within your own election district."

This is the tone of the circular-letter, which has a postscript declaring that the State Committee have indications that they can carry the State outside the City, and that their majority here will be from thirty-five thousand to forty thousand.

This letter was evidently confided to poor Mr. Greeley's manager, and the Tribune yesterday had a "screaming" article based upon it. The letter itself, however, is in much more forcible style. It will not accomplish its purpose, but it will have some effect. It shows, meantime, that the Democratic managers are doing their best to recover the ground they have lost. As we have said, it is with them a question of life and death.

This fact, however, appeals with as much force to patriotic men as to the Democratic managers. The opportunity of shattering the Democratic Party—which has for so many years been the foe of progress—ought to be seized by all good citizens as eagerly as it is resisted by the politicians, whose occupation will be gone when the party is destroyed. That opportunity is presented now to the people of the State of New-York. Gen. Grant will be re-elected, whether New-York is carried or not. But if we carry this State, we shall add to the satisfaction of securing a good administration for four years longer the greater satisfaction of having broken up the reactionary party of the country. The prize is worth working for, and we appeal to every true man in his own neighborhood to do his share of the work.

MINOR TOPICS.

The examination of Judge Porter before the Committee of Investigation into the Harlem Court-house swindle reveals some interesting details regarding the process of cooking fraudulent warrants. Judge Porter seems to have been tolerably accommodating in placing his signature at the disposal of friends, who, to say the least of it, grossly abused his confidence. But he was, apparently, not accommodating enough for Tweed, Genet & Co., and some ingenious coworker seems to have been employed to counterfeit the signature of the Judge to the certification of bills that were too outrageous even for his trustful nature. It will be tolerably apparent to every reader that with an honest and resolute man at the head of the Department of Finance, these frauds could have been stopped at the outset. The case lends fresh point to the necessity of a reform triumph to preserve us from a return of such a financial administration as that of Connolly.

Another of those periodical "open-switch" railroad disasters has just recalled the public mind to a consideration of the kind of chances on which the lives of passengers are daily made to depend. The Seabrook casualty clearly involves a more than usual amount of really culpable carelessness. Somebody ought obviously to be indicted for manslaughter in connection with the occurrence, and it should be very clearly demonstrated that the Railway Company exercised due diligence in the selection of the servant or servants responsible for this "accident," before they are acquitted of direct participation in the guilt which it involves. It seems hardly possible, had the most improved kind of switch been in use on the Eastern Road, that the lives lost yesterday would have been sacrificed.

It has been remarked by persons curious in such things that an Irish Israelite was about as rare as a snake or a toad in the Emerald Island. Yet, according to Mr. J. B. Bartnett, a Hebrew scholar, Ireland was in a measure settled from Judea, when the Prophet Jeremiah emigrated thither with the remnant of the tribe of Judah. The prophet, says Mr. Bartnett, is "no other than the celebrated Irish reformer and law-giver, Olearn Fodha." The process by which Jeremiah could have been Hibernicized into Olearn Fodha must have been as mysterious and interesting as the argument whereby Garibaldi became identified as an Irish patriot named Garry O'Baldwin. Still following Mr. Bartnett, we find that the good prophet brought with him the stone, known as "Jacob's Stone," which was kept in the sanctuary of the first temple at Jerusalem, and apostrophized by King David "as the stone which the builders rejected." Translated to Irish soil, this remarkable petrifaction became the Lia-Fail or Stone of Destiny, in order to be crowned upon which an Irish prince afterward went to Scotland, and which, removed to Westminster Abbey by Edward III., has since been used for the same purpose. The Dublin Freeman's Journal, however, asserts that the Stone of Destiny has never left the vicinity of Fingal's Cave, which, if true, puts a difficulty in the way of giving implicit credence to Mr. Bartnett's story.

The members of the Hartford (Conn.) Board of Aldermen have just rendered a decision, the propriety of which, to say the least, is open to question. It appears that one of the Water Commissioners, a Mr. Thomas Lawler, has by some means become possessed of valuable information in reference to what is popularly known as the "Hartford water trouble," but refuses to impart it to his fellow Commissioners unless a check for five thousand dollars has previously been deposited with his bankers. The Mayor of the city, immediately on discovering this circumstance, attempted to remove Mr. Lawler from his post. The Aldermen, however, having the power to either sanction or disapprove of the act, met together and had quite an animated discussion upon the matter. The result was that Mr. Lawler's services, upon a vote having been taken, were retained by a majority of seven to three. It was argued in his favor, no doubt, that the facts he deemed of so much importance had come to him outside of his official position, and that, like any other merchantable commodity, he was entitled to be paid for them. Although this may or may not be the case, the Mayor's reasons for his removal were evidently well founded, and, in the interests of public morality, we cannot see how he could consistently have done otherwise.

It is an ill wind which blows nobody good, and an extraordinary stimulus has been given to prospecting for veins of coal in Ireland, by the fuel-famine in the sister country. Glowing reports come from the provinces as to finds, but most of them want confirmation. It seems probable, however, that the already existing mines will receive a strong stimulus; and the fact that the celebrated Holyhead and Kingston mail-boats of the City of Dublin are forthwith to be run by Irish coal, supports this assumption. Packet companies have been among the most successful of Irish ventures. The City of Dublin Mail Packet Company stands very high, and the Peninsular and Oriental, the greatest business of its kind in the world, originated in the Irish capital.

It is really a matter for surprise that the terrible accidents which result so frequently from the careless handling of kerosene do not have the effect of inducing housekeepers to give up its use altogether. Scarcely a week passes that a gap has not been made at some fireside through this cause. One of the latest sacrifices occurred at a place called Bethel, in Maine. A Mrs. Leavy, one of the residents, having risen from bed before day-break, took a lamp from her dressing-table, and was in the act of lighting it when some of the oil dropped upon her clothes. A spark from a match soon afterward set her on fire, and despite the efforts of her husband, the unfortunate woman was so badly burned that death followed in a few hours. Now, it is quite evident that nothing can stop this shocking loss of life short of the invention of a new light that will be as brilliant as kerosene, at the same time that it is perfectly harmless. A great many attempts have been made in this a direction, but so far without success. Whoever produces what is needed is certain of a fortune.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

New Building for the Post-Office Department—Something About Henderson's Arrest in Cuba—Gen. Walker and the Interior Department—Miscellaneous.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Among the projects to be brought forward at the next session of Congress is the erection of a new building for the Post-office Department, or some plan for increasing the capacity of the present building. It cannot be many years before the question of accommodations for the administration of the Post-office Department will become very pressing, and it will need some attention soon. It will hardly be determined this Winter, and perhaps there is no expectation that it will be, for when it is proposed to remodel the Post-office building in any way, the question will present itself, whether it should not be demolished entirely, and the Department building taken to a new location. The Patent Office building covers two squares, extending from Seventh to Ninth-street. The two squares fronting it ought to be retained by the Government as an open park, or else both should be occupied with uniform structures. The Post-office building has grown by additions from time to time till it occupies the whole of one of these squares, and the other is covered with private buildings, mostly of a very bad character. The Post-office building is so bad, architecturally, that it would be folly to make another like it for the opposite square. There are those who will hope the building may be used as at present till the Government can afford to tear it down and use the material for other purposes elsewhere. It is understood that the subject will be discussed to some extent in the proper reports.

THE NEW CUBAN SENSATION.

There are some reports from Lock Haven, Penn., the home of the Herald Cuban correspondent, Henderson, which indicate that his recent arrest by Spanish officials was contrived in the United States a few weeks ago. Mr. Henderson is a gentleman of an adventurous disposition, who sought and obtained the opportunity to visit the Lowery band of outlaws last winter. After his return he had been living quietly at home till besought by the paper for which he made that expedition to go to Cuba. When this became known to his neighbors it was surmised that a sensation had been planned, and they were not disappointed when they heard of his arrest. If it is true that it was planned for him to be arrested so as to afford an opportunity for a special working up of the Cuban business and material for attacks on the State Department by his paper, his quick release must be regarded by the parties interested as a great misfortune. It destroys the chances of getting up a sensation from that direction, and makes it necessary to fall back upon such resources as are at this point. These, it will be seen, are drawn upon most too severely, and the product is not of inestimable value.

GEN. WALKER AND THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

The Interior Department will find it very difficult to secure a successor for Gen. Walker when he leaves the Indian Bureau. Gen. Cowen, the Assistant Secretary, is an excellent administrative officer, and has given special attention to the Indian question. The Peace Commission are understood to be exceedingly anxious for him to take the office of Commissioner, but he declines to accept. The true reason, probably, is the small salary of the position, and the same reason will operate to prevent the others to whom the position might be tendered from accepting it. Gen. Walker took it in the first instance only after the most earnest solicitation, and without the intention of holding it long. The Commissioner is responsible for the disbursement of about $5,000,000 a year. He occupies also a very laborious desk, and receives for such responsibility and labor $3 000 per year, and the prospect of undeserved abuse by a partisan Press. This latter Gen. Walker has escaped in a most remarkable manner, but that is no security for his successor.

MIDSHIPMAN DIGGS DISMISSED.

The circumstances of the cadet trouble at the Naval Academy at Annapolis as reported to the Department are chiefly, that Robert D. Diggs, of Maryland, cadet midshipmen, met colored cadet midshipmen Conyers on the grounds of the Naval Academy, and after some words between them a fight ensued, Diggs getting the better of Conyers. The representation being that Diggs was in fault, an order was issued last night by Acting Secretary of the Navy Case dismissing Diggs from the Academy.

NEW-YORK.

Great Republican Meeting in Otsego County—Addresses by Hons. Henry Wilson and Butler G. Noble.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Oneonta, N. Y., Oct. 22.—A grand rally of the Republicans of Otsego County took place here today, and showed that the zeal in the good cause is in no way abated because success seems assured. Fully five thousand people were gathered in this little village by the announcement that Hon. Henry Wilson, candidate for Vice-President, would address the meeting. Senator Wilson came by special train from Albany, and on the route was met by large crowds wherever the train stopped. At Cobleskill he was called out, making a few remarks, saying that he was certain New-York would take her proper place at the head of the grand column of Republican States. At Oneonta he was greeted by several hundred uniformed Grant Guards, with banners and bands of music. After dinner the crowds gathered under the immense tent and were called to order by Hon. John Cope, candidate for Assembly for the Second District of Otsego. Several Vice-Presidents were announced, among whom were Hon. David Wilbur, candidate for Congress for the Twentieth District; Hon. Geo. Ernest, Hon. W. C. Fields, and Hon. E. R. Ford. The Secretaries were S. C. Carpenter, of Oneonta, and A. A. Kase, of Albany. Being introduced by Mr. Cope, Senator Wilson, after a brief exordium, proceeded to discuss the issues of the campaign, or rather lack of issues, for, said he, the old Democratic Party comes before the country without Democratic principles or candidates. This was surely, he thought in the beginning, to be a revolution or a fizzle. The October elections settled that it was not a revolution, and those of November will declare it is a fizzle. He spoke of the rise and achievements of the Republican Party as entitling it to public confidence, and then the rise and false pretensions of Liberalism, which had already fallen beneath contempt. He then went into a lengthy and forcible eulogy of Gen. Grant, both personally and politically, but especially for his course in enforcing Kuklux law. He forcibly presented the financial achievements of the present Administration, which have increased the credit of the nation, and insured the stability and the prosperity of all business and industrial interests. After the conclusion of his address, ex Gov. B. G. Noble was introduced and delivered a telling speech, at once eloquent and humorous. The vast crowd was attentive to the last, showing the deepest interest in the questions discussed, and at the close of each speech gave hearty and prolonged cheers for Grant and Wilson. Otsego County has been, even by many Republicans, given up to the Democrats in consequence of suspected defections among Republicans, but the demonstration of today gives evidence of a spirit that fully justifies the recent canvass, which shows the county is good for a Republican majority in November. It will elect at least one Republican member of Assembly, and give a majority for Hon. David Wilbur for Congress.

E. C.

The Republicans of Michigan.

Great preparations are being made for a grand Republican demonstration to come off at Kalamazoo, Mich., on the last day of this month. Among the speakers announced as positively to be present are Vice-President Schuyler Colfax, Senator Matt. H. Carpenter, of Wisconsin; Gen. Garfield, of Ohio, and several of the most popular orators in Michigan, including Congressmen Waldron and Stoughton. It is expected that the Republicans of Central and Western Michigan will be largely represented.

NEW-YORK STATE FINANCES.

Official Exhibit of the Condition of the Funds.

Extracts from the Forthcoming Report of Controller Hopkins—Tabular Statement of the Revenue and Expenditures.

The present Republican State Controller has already prepared the leading tables of his Annual Report for the Legislature and for the information of the people, although the fiscal year only ended three weeks ago, Sept. 30. This promptness is the more commendable as Controller Hopkins, on his induction into the office last Winter—succeeding a Democratic Controller, Judge Allen, who, with acknowledged integrity, had not the courage to meet the constantly-growing deficiencies in the General Fund by bold and urgent recommendations to the Legislature—met the financial difficulties before him by insisting upon a special and extra tax of two per cent. to restore the General Fund to its proper solvency and efficiency. This tax was voted by the Legislature in addition to the one and a quarter per cent. for the current expenditures of the year ending 30th ult.

The reason for this policy is now before the public in the tables which will be found in another part of this paper. The extra tax now to be collected will produce something more than the estimated deficiencies for which it was designed, but this estimate falling short of the actual sum at the close of the late year by $886,000, Mr. Hopkins plainly sets forth the causes of difference, one of which was the anticipation of $700,000 appropriated by the last Legislature, in place of bringing this sum into the new year.

Total	$3,933,513 87	$5,682,451 34	$1,748,937 47

Deficiency on the 30th September, 1872....$4,937,197 69

Estimated deficiency to Sept. 30, 1872, as per annual report of Controller, transmitted to the Legislature Jan. 2, 1872, (Assembly Document No. 3, page 91)........ 4,051,159 09

Excess of deficiency over the estimate.... $886,038 60

This excess arises from two causes: First, the miscellaneous receipts fall short $196,000 of the amount estimated; second, the payments exceed the estimates by nearly $700,000. The estimates were based on actual appropriations. The Legislature of 1872 made additional appropriations, which were in part paid during the fiscal year just closed, to meet deficiencies in appropriations for State Prisons, printing and Legislature, and for construction of Insane Asylums and State Reformatory, Hospital buildings at Quarantine, &c., &c.

TAXES FOR ORDINARY EXPENSES OF GOVERNMENT.

For the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1870, Controller Allen recommended 1¼ mill, and that rate was authorized and levied. For the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1871, Controller Allen recommended 1½ mill, which rate would have produced $2,950,501 78. Instead of this, only 1¼ mill was authorized and levied, yielding $2,458,751 48. For fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1872, Controller Nichols recommended 2¼ mills, which rate would have produced $4,618,210 27. Instead of this, the Legislature of 1871 authorized only 1⅜ mill, which produces $2,822,239 61. Difference of $1,795,970 66.

In his last annual report to the Legislature (Assembly document No. 3, page 33,) transmitted Jan. 2, 1872, Controller Nichols recommended 1¾ mill for ordinary purposes for year ending Sept. 30, 1873, and two mills for deficiency in general fund to Sept. 30, 1872.

The Legislature authorized the two mills. The proceeds will amount to $4,177,254 89.

The deficiency at the time the above tax of two mills was recommended, it was estimated, would amount on the 30th September, 1872, to $4,051,159 09.

The actual deficiency is largely in excess of the estimate, as previously explained.

LYMAN TRUMBULL.

A Sharp Arraignment of the Ambitious and Traitorous Senator from Illinois.

From the Chicago Times, Oct. 21.

In all the records of political depravity it would be difficult to find a more conspicuous case of self-seeking demagogism than that which is presented to the people of this country in the career of Mr. Lyman Trumbull. This man, ever since he was kicked out of the office of Assistant Secretary of State for dishonesty, by Gov. Ford, has been a polical Ishmaelite, seeking his own aggrandizement at the sacrifice of justice, conscience, friendship and personal honor. A man consumed by overweening self-conceit and envious ambition, his hand has been against every man that stood above him, and a malignant heart has impelled him to stab alike friend or foe that happened to be in the way of his aspirations. Beginning his office-holding career by the ennobling exercise of deceit, falsehood, and treachery to his patron, Gov. Ford—as honest a man as ever drew breath—he examplified a talent for treachery on a higher scale by conspiring, under the cloak of friendship, to supplant and destroy Mr. Douglas. So, too, pretending the friend and playing the serpent, he gained his seat in the Senate by treachery to a friend, (Mr. Lincoln,) who could not and would not match him in the arts of knavery. Mr. Lincoln's nomination to the Presidency aroused all the malicious envy in Mr. Trumbull's hypocrite nature. Here was the friend, by whose sacrifice he had risen, again passing him in the race. The fact was worm-wood to him. And from the beginning to the bloody close of Mr. Lincoln's Administration, Lyman Trumbull but illy concealed his envy and hate of the man who had gained before him the goal to which he aspired. No man sat in the Federal Senate harboring in a malicious bosom greater willingness to see Lincoln's Administration fail, than was in that of Lyman Trumbull.

It was the same spirit of self-seeking, the same envious littleness of a mean but ambitious soul, that caused the falling out between Trumbull and Grant. Trumbull aimed to supersede Grant in the Presidential office by undermining and destroying him as he had sought to undermine and destroy Ford, Douglas, Lincoln, every man who stood higher than himself. Failing in his charitable scheme to gain the Philadelphia nomination, this envious marplot changed his programme, turned "liberal," and forthwith commenced to lay his treacherous arts for the Cincinnati nomination by winding serpent coils around his personal friend, Judge Davis. This was the next friend whose betrayal his selfish ambition demanded. Letters from gentlemen cognizant of the facts, warning the friends of Judge Davis of the contemplated treachery of this pretended friend, and letters warning the supporters of the reform movement that Trumbull would contrive to ruin if he could not rule that movement, could be produced by dozens. And the upshot, as all now know, was that, failing in his attempt to rule, he succeeded, by helping on the corrupt villainy of others, in accomplishing the ruin.

Less than five months ago, this man of envious soul sat at Washington, directing an infamous game of treachery and hypocrisy. From Washington he forwarded letters to his parasites and tools, telling them to go to Cincinnati, and what to do there. "The Democrats must be absolutely excluded," he said; "their suggestions must not be heeded; their wishes must not be considered. They are a body of men, mostly traitors, who cannot be made useful for any good purpose. The Cincinnati meeting must be distinctively a conference of Republicans; it must nominate for candidate a distinctive Republican, one who has been prominently identified with Republican policies and measures," meaning that they must nominate Lyman Trumbull. "Democrats must be told to stand aloof; they must be ignored and spurned." This is the substance of what Lyman Trumbull wrote from Washington to his parasites and tools at Cincinnati on the 1st of May.

Pass over the brief space of four months. Since the 8th day of the present month, this same Mr. Trumbull has been writing some more letters, in a somewhat different key. These later epistles of Lyman, the apostle of treachery, have been addressed to Mr. Hendricks, Mr. Pendleton, Mr. Horatio Seymour, Mr. Thurman, and other conspicuous gentlemen of presumed influence among Democrats. In these epistles, Mr. Lyman Trumbull has begged those Democrats, "who can not be made useful for any good purpose,"—has begged them for God's sake (that is, for Lyman Trumbull's sake,) to come to Illinois and help him get back into the Senate!

Herein the Times makes no statement upon rumor; but states whereof it has positive knowledge. The moral conclusions of these facts it is not necessary to elaborate.

AMUSEMENTS.

Booth's Theatre.

"KERRY" AND "JESSIE BROWN."

A change of bill was made last night at Booth's Theatre. Two plays, one new, one old, and both from the fertile pen of Mr. Boucicault, were acted in place of Arrah na Pogue." The former is called "Kerry." It is a mere sketch of a piece—a "comedy drama," the bills call it, and it fills hardly more than an hour. The plot is quite threadbare. A young husband, Gerald Desmond, has been away from home, and is thought to have been drowned at sea. When the action begins, Blanche, a pale wife, in weeds, is seen, wasting fast away with grief. With her are Kate, a young sister of the husband, Coldham, a young officer in love with the sister, and Kerry, an old Irishman and family servant, the real centre of the movement and interest. Besides these an elderly physician, Dr. Mellish, rounds off the group, and makes himself conspicuously inefficient when his services are at all needed. In the end Gerald, of course, turns up again, and all is joy and peace. This is of necessity known to the audience from the first, since his name is in the cast. Attention is hence chiefly fixed on the portrayal of the various sentiments proper to the situations, and to the efforts of the characters to keep Blanche from being harmed by too sudden a revelation of the safety of her husband.

With so slender a story, it hardly need be said that characteristic stage-skill is shown by the author, whose success must lie in making the best of his material, and in giving a certain air of freshness and novelty to the common-place. Mr. Boucicault is clever, and his cleverness is as apparent in "Kerry" as in more pretentious efforts. His acting in the "Old Servant" is also clever—very; but it has one serious deficiency, and that is heart. Intellectually appreciative to the point of subtlety, artistically finished to the point of elaboration, the lack of genuine feeling just prevents the performance from being great. It is yet a striking and highly interesting piece of acting, and it certainly was much liked last night by the audience. Miss Kate Newton makes a comely, albeit for the part, a rather buxom Blanche, and although energy rather than tenderness was shown in her first impersonation, we incline to think it will be improved a good deal by a little practice. In Kate Miss Geraldine Stuart was kindly received on her first appearance, looked very nicely, and will likewise, we believe, improve on acquaintance. Mr. George Becks, Mr. Decker and Mr. Fenno did the little they had to do acceptably. Mr. Boucicault and Miss Newton were called before the curtain at the close and cheered with considerable enthusiasm.

The drama of "Jessie Brown" is familiar to most New-York play-goers, and is as popular as well known. Mrs. Boucicault, who was heartily greeted, plays the heroine with all her old neatness and spirit, and more than her old feeling and variety. To the regret of those who recall Mr. Boucicault's success in Nana Sahib, he resigned the part on this occasion to another. Mr. Joseph Wheelock, who essayed the ferocious chieftain, did his best with it, and was well approved. Mr. Shiel Barry distinguished himself, as might have been expected, as Cassidy, and the drama was in general favorably welcomed. To-night, "Arrah na Pogue" is to be acted again, and to-morrow there will be a repeat of the bill of Tuesday.

MISCELLANEOUS MENTION.

Mr. J. H. Bonawitz will soon give a concert at Steinway Hall. Mr. Bonawitz is an accomplished musician and a most capable executant, and his programme, of which we shall publish a summary hereafter, cannot fail to attract an interest....It should be remembered that the first of three Rubinstein concerts may be enjoyed at Steinway Hall to-morrow evening....A delightful musical soirée was supplied last evening by Señor Ranieri Vilanova, and several of that gentleman's best pupils, to a select audience at Chickering's Rooms. Señor Vilanova, Mrs. Freyse, of Washington, Mr. William Langdon, Miss L. Flanagan and Miss Annie Gibert were the principal executants, and some of Señor Vilanova's most graceful compositions, including "Una Sera Sull, Pincio," and "Sogno d'Amore," were, thanks to their efforts, heard to great advantage.

Miscellaneous.

MR. FROUDE AND MISS FAITHFULL.

Mr. John Anthony Froude will lecture this evening at Association Hall. To-morrow Miss Emily Faithfull will deliver, at Steinway Hall, her lecture on "Queen Victoria and the Royal Family."

AN EAST-SIDE CIRCUS.

The urchins of the eastern part of the City, and the older folk who still delight in "shows," may be advised that at the foot of Houston-street, East River, an exhibition of a very varied character solicits patronage. A troupe of Arabs has been added since Monday to an already strong equestrian company, and while the performances, on horseback, of Mr. William Dutton and his associates may be enjoyed as heretofore, the feats of the children of the desert give a fresh relish to the entertainments for those who witnessed last week's representations.

The Adams-Colt Murder—Sad Coincidence.

From the Boston Traveller, Oct. 21.

A daughter of the brother of Mr. Lane, who was recently murdered at Dorchester, was made a widow by a murder of a still more heartless nature—Mr. Adams, who was murdered by Colt some years ago, in New-York, being her husband. Mr. Adams left his residence one morning, to collect a bill of Mr. Colt, and he was not heard of for about a week. Mr. Colt (brother of the famous revolver Colt) murdered him in his office, doubled and cut up the body, put it in a box and shipped it for New-Orleans; but owing to the detention of the vessel for other causes, the murder was discovered. Colt, it will be remembered, was convicted and ordered to be hung. Two hours before the time of execution the prison took fire, and, as some believe, Colt escaped in fireman's clothes and still lives, though it was said he committed suicide, and a body found was said to be his. It is most singular and sad that the widow of the murdered Adams should now come to Boston to attend the funeral of her murdered uncle.

THE EPIDEMIC AMONG HORSES.

Great Panic Among the Horse-Owners of This City—Hundreds of Horses Disabled.

The horse disease occurring in the different cities outside of New-York, and which had caused a great deal of excitement among the stable-keepers and car companies, has made its appearance in this City, and is causing the greatest panic. Yesterday it was found that the disease had made its appearance in different stables throughout the City. On the Broadway and Madison-avenue line, the stable-keepers had to run their stages at intervals, and overwork their horses in consequence of upward of sixty teams of their animals being stricken down, and it is stated by the drivers that it will cause almost entirely a suspension of the running of the stages on that line today.

On the Sixth-avenue line of railroad up to 12 o'clock last night it was stated that upward of 200 horses were stricken down in the space of four hours, the Company having been compelled to withdraw some of their cars. On the West side all the horses are afflicted to a like degree; on the Grand-street car line, at the stables in Henry-street, some fifty cases have appeared. The Third-avenue Company are said to be suffering more than any other, having in their stables over 2,000 horses. Last night a stock of veterinary surgeons and assistants were engaged attending to over 300 horses who were attacked by this disease. Of that number one-half are past hope of recovery. The symptoms are described by Mr. Boomer, Veterinary Surgeon of the Third-avenue Company, as a flow of tears from the eyes, a discharge from the nose, and a general state of languor, with a cough resulting in paroxysms; the homeopathic treatment being the one adopted, first administering aconite and purgatives, and, at the end of three hours, if no change takes place, death results.

There is no reason assigned for the disease, which is believed to be in the atmosphere, and will become, undoubtedly, an epidemic all over the country. Up to midnight last night no deaths occurred, except in the Sixth-avenue stables. It is generally believed by the companies that material interruption of traffic in the City will ensue.

The Disease in Brooklyn.

The distemper which has created so much havoc among horses in Canada, and which is known as the horse epidemic, is reported as having made its appearance in Brooklyn. It is stated that it was first discovered in the stables of the Brooklyn City Railroad, where one of the animals was attacked, and in a few hours rendered incapable of performing duty. President Sullivan was immediately notified, and the remedies known to veterinary surgeons were applied, but the animal will probably die, owing to the fact that the disease had gained considerable headway before treatment was commenced. Some dozen or more horses belonging to the Company yesterday gave unmistakable signs of having caught the infection, and it is apprehended that the epidemic may become general. Much excitement was occasioned by the report, and owners of horses are taking every precaution to prevent a spread of the disease.

Business in Buffalo Almost Suspended for Want of Horses—Canal Horses Attacked.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The horse disease here has become a public calamity. Many branches of business have been entirely suspended for want of animals to do the ordinary transportation. The street railroads are running with half their usual force and expect to stop in a day or two. The omnibus companies have entirely suspended business, all their horses being sick. Canal horses have, until today, escaped, but now the disease has broken out among them, and commercial men are alarmed.

Spread of the Disease in Rochester—Suspension of Business by the Street Railway.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The horse disease is on the increase, and there are few horses in the city that are not affected. The Street Railway Company have suspended operations, all their horses being sick. The livery stables and the Express Companies have also suspended. There is hardly a horse to be seen in the streets, and not a farmer's team in sight hereabouts.

The Disease Among Horses in Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 22.—The horse disease has broken out in Boston—many animals being affected—but no fatal cases have as yet been reported.

The Canadian Horse Disease—Appearance in Albany.

From the Albany Express, Oct. 22.

We have from time to time referred to the existence of a virulent disease among the horses in different sections of Canada, and we think it is clearly demonstrated that it is epidemic, as in a short space of time it has spread from Toronto to Montreal on the one side, and to Western New-York on the other. Monday week it appeared in Buffalo, and Thursday last in Rochester, and, we regret to say, Saturday it made its appearance in this city. One of the team of steamer No. 6 is now suffering from its effects, and we learn from the veterinary surgeons that there are several cases of it in different sections of the city. All accounts agree that the animals in which it is most likely to be developed are those employed in hard work and exposed to inclement weather. The disease is termed by the veterinarians epizootic catarrh, or catarrhal influenza, and is best treated by rest, warmth, dryness and soft food, with an occasional dose of medicine as prescribed by the veterinary surgeon. The horse which is affected in the slightest degree must have absolute rest until recovery, and one of the best preventives is to keep the animal closely stabled in damp or wet weather.

Arrival of Miss Nellie Grant.

Miss Nellie Grant, who has been passing the Summer in Europe, arrived in this City late last evening by the Cunard steamer Scotia. President Grant, accompanied by Gen. Porter, Gen. Arthur, Col. Frank E. Howe, Lieut. Fred. Grant, Isaac H. Bailey, Esq., Hon. Thos. Murphy, Hon. Hugh Hastings and others, started down the Bay in the cutter Grant at 2 o'clock, and after cruising around the Lower Bay until 7 o'clock, returned to the City. At 8 o'clock the Scotia was signaled, and the President and party again sailed down the Bay and boarded the steamer. Miss Grant seems much improved in appearance by her tour, and returns in perfect health. After cordial greetings had been exchanged, Miss Grant stepped on board the cutter. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Secretary Borie, Mrs. Goddard, son and daughter, Mr. Lawrence, M. W. Fleiss, Esq., Mr. Charles Borule, and a few personal friends. The party then returned to the stone dock off the Battery, where carriages were in waiting to convey them to the Fifth-avenue Hotel. The President and party will return to Washington today.

Russia and Khiva.

The Russian papers publish various particulars about the rupture between Russia and Khiva. The Khan of Khiva is described as "a young man of twenty-seven, with great military abilities and insatiable ambition, who openly proclaims his determination not to leave a foot of ground to the foreign invaders in Central Asia, and has for some time been securing allies for a campaign against Russia." He not only sent his emissaries into the Russian territory of Mangischlack to stir up an insurrection among the Kirghiz, but dispatched an embassy to Calcutta to apply for the assistance of England. The Viceroy advised a reconciliation with Russia, upon which the ambassador replied: "This cannot be, for Russia has deeply offended the Khan; she has not even sent him a dispatch sealed with a golden seal, though he is equal in rank to all other sovereigns." At a grand council held by the Khan some of the members declared themselves opposed to a war with Russia. Yesi-Mourad, one of the Khan's uncles, then rose and said: "When I was a boy, people were already talking of the danger of a Russian invasion. This danger was averted; the Muscovite fears us. I have grown old, and have not seen a Russian yet; nor shall we see them in our country. But if we act like cowards and give up our prisoners, our power will depart from us. The Turcomans and Kirghis will attack us, and Khiva will be shamefully subdued." This speech made a great impression in the council, and it was unanimously resolved not to yield to the Russian demands. Three Russian columns have now been sent against the Khan from Biseh-Akti, Karakoum and Ust-Urt; but it is expected that they will find the task of conquering Khiva a hard one, as the Khivans are brave and enterprising, and have a large army.

College for Women in Massachusetts.

From the Boston Advertiser, Oct. 21.

It will be remembered that the late Miss Sophia Smith, of Hatfield, in this State, bequeathed by will a considerable sum for the establishment and maintenance of an institution for "the higher education of young women," designed to equal in the advantages afforded by it the colleges for young men. The trustees named in the will have purchased an eligible site in the beautiful town of Northampton, six miles from the colleges in Amherst and an equal distance from the Mount Holyoke Seminary. They have cash funds, including $25,000 given by the town of Northampton, amounting to $358,000. They are now seeking the means to erect the necessary buildings and an art museum without encroaching on these funds, and Rev. John M. Greene, of Lowell, formerly Miss Smith's pastor, has been appointed a general agent to solicit assistance from the friends of religion and education. Miss Smith's will forbade the expenditure of more than half the sum left by her for buildings. The scheme which the Board of Trustees have adopted is a large one. The study of Greek and Latin is to be pursued as extensively as in colleges for young men; not less attention will be paid to modern languages; more time will be devoted to English literature and to æsthetics; the physical sciences will be taught so as to keep pace with the scientific and material progress of the age; probably less attention than in other colleges will be given to mathematics, but more to ethics and metaphysics; facilities are to be afforded for the pursuit of special studies, and, to sum up, "the system of training will be such as to fit young women to become teachers, not only in our Sabbath-schools, Bible-classes and mission-stations, but also in our highest institutions of learning; to become writers, also, not only of articles for the daily and weekly Press, but also of standard books." This is a grand scheme, which it is safe to say will never be accomplished until the present available funds are increased several fold. We should suppose $2,000,000 in hand would be as little as would afford reasonable promise of its accomplishment in this generation.

The Fire in the Escurial—Extent of the Damage.

Writing from Madrid on Oct. 4, the Times correspondent says: "The moment the first telegram was received in Madrid, preparations were made for the dispatch of a special train with the necessary help. The Railway Company had this train ready directly, but from some cause quite incomprehensible, the ingenieros did not reach the station till nearly 4 o'clock. Shortly afterward the train started, carrying fire-engines, water carts, hose, &c., but did not reach the Escurial till 6½. Brigadier Camus was in charge. The King had intended to go down in the next special train, but the receipt of a telegram from Brigadier Camus, saying 'Fire subdued,' caused His Majesty to desist from his intention. Later telegrams upset the comforting assurance, and announced the continuance of the fire. It was not 'out' till between 9 and 10 yesterday (Thursday) morning. According to the statement made by the Minister of Finance to the Cortes yesterday afternoon, the actual damage is much less than at first supposed. Not a book, a manuscript, or a picture has been injured. The Church and the Palace, with their priceless contents, are untouched. The principal fear was for the ceiling of the library, with its magnificent frescoes, the work of Peregrin Tibaldi and Bartolemé Carducci. These works of art, which represent Philosophy, Grammar, Rhetoric, Music, Astronomy, Dialectics, Arithmetic, and Theology, appear to the eyes as fresh and as brilliant as when their colors were first laid on, more than 300 years ago. Their painting cost £2,750, without the value of the gold and colors. Fortunately, they are intact, and neither fire nor water has damaged them. Fears, however, still exist that, in consequence of the immense weight of rubbish above it, the whole ceiling may fall; but, as the work of clearing away this rubbish has commenced, and is being carried on with extreme care, it is to be hoped no further mischief will be done. So far as can at present be calculated the building will cost £40,000 to repair. The idea of a national subscription was started, but His Majesty has knocked it on the head by insisting on defraying the whole cost out of his own private purse."

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, OF PHILADELphia, proprietor of SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA-WEED TONIC and MANDRAKE PILLS, for the cure of consumption, has now completed arrangements, in compliance with the numerous requests of consumptives and their friends residing in this City, so as to be able to consult and advise with them personally. The Doctor, as has been already announced, will reoccupy his old rooms at No. 32 Bond-st., where his patients in this City and vicinity can consult him at stated intervals. His first visit will be on WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, the 23d and 24th inst., when patients will be received and advised free of charge; but for a thorough examination by the Respirometer the price is $5. This instrument will detect the slightest murmur of the respiratory organs; by it can be readily determined whether the disease is tubercular, bronchial, or only a sympathetic affection of the bronchial tubes, which is often mistaken for pulmonary consumption, but which is caused by a torpid liver.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

There was a good attendance at the Exchange yesterday, Tuesday, Oct. 22, and considerable interest was evinced in the transactions of the day, but most of the realty disposed of sold cheap. The following is a review of the proceedings: B. P. Fairchild, by order of the Court of Common Pleas, in foreclosure, under the direction of Wm. C. Traphagen, Esq., referee, sold the premises known as No. 640 East Thirteenth-street, south side, between Avenues A and B, embracing a lot 25 by 103.3, with a five-story brick building, 25 by 63, thereon, for $17,600, the purchaser being John Derr, the holder of a second mortgage. The property is encumbered for over $18,000. The same auctioneer also sold, under a Superior Court foreclosure order, Adrian H. Joline, Esq., referee, a three-story and basement brown-stone front house and lot, situate on the south-east corner of Madison-avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-third-street, (lot 19.11 by 80.) for $12,000, which was purchased by J. B. Fellows for the plaintiff in the legal action, or rather for the party to whom he had assigned the mortgage foreclosed. The house sold is new, and its purchase a bargain, the mortgages alone on it amounting, with interest, to $10,700. Joseph McGuire, by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of Jacob A. Gross, Esq., referee, disposed of the property known as No. 190 Third-street, between Avenues A and B, comprising a lot 24 by 106, with a three-story and basement brick house upon the front thereof, and a three-story brick house in rear; sold for $14,500 to Adam Hoffman. Muller, Wilkins & Co., at public auction, sold a two-story frame house and lot, (latter 16.8 by 58,) situate on the south side of Eighty-fifth-street, (not yet opened,) 250 feet east of Tenth-avenue, for $2,775, to T. B. Woolsey; also, five lots, together in size, 100 by 125, with two-story frame house thereon, located at Port Morris, and situate on the south-west corner of Elm-street and Tinton-avenue, for $4,000, the purchaser being Addison Brown. No other business was transacted. In reference to the auction at Summit, N. J., held by A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro., particulars will be given to-morrow.

Today, at the Exchange, the auctions proposed are of an important character, for although all are legal sales, the property to be offered is of a superior class. Muller, Wilkins & Co. will dispose of ten first-class brown-stone French flat houses and lots, located on the west side of Lexington-avenue, between Fifty and Fifty-first streets. Goodenough & Weber will offer for sale, the store property No. 89 Roosevelt-street, between Cherry and Oak streets; one lot on Second-avenue, between Fifty-second and Fifty-third streets; one lot on Fifty-fifth-street, east of Second-avenue, and valuable real estate in Brooklyn. A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co. will sell, by order of executors, the business premises No. 307 Pearl-street and No. 52 Ferry-street, and James M. Miller will dispose of the fee of the house and lot No. 335 West Twenty-eighth-street, near Ninth-avenue, with the lease of two houses and lots adjoining, known as Nos. 333 and 333½ West Twenty-eighth-street. All these sales deserve and should command attention.

We desire to again call attention to the sale which takes place to-morrow, Thursday, at the Exchange, Muller, Wilkins & Co., auctioneers, at which the desirable property located at Fordham Heights, Westchester County, will be offered, embracing thirty-six villa plots, containing from four to eight City lots each, situated on McComb's Dam road. This property is now as well as prospectively of great value, and its proposed sale at the present time is a feature in the market.

At private contract, Wm. H. Raynor, No. 5½ Pine-street, reports having recently sold seven full lots on the south side of One Hundred and Thirty-fifth-street, 225 feet west of Seventh-avenue, for $26,600.

EXTENSION RAILWAY

First Mortgage 7 Per Cent. Convertible GOLD BONDS,

AT 90 AND INTEREST,

Issued by the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railway to aid in building its EXTENSION line West, in a direct line from Champaign (185 miles) to the Mississippi River at Keokuk, and a branch from White Heath (32 miles) to Decatur, all in the State of Illinois. The bonds are secured by a first and only mortgage on the EXTENSION, now being rapidly constructed in the most thorough manner by able and experienced contractors who represent a capital of several millions of dollars, which insures the last rail being laid at an early date. About 60 miles are already finished and 110 miles graded; the whole line, 217 miles, will be completed early in 1873. We have been connected and entirely familiar with the I., B. & W. Railway from its early organization. It was completed in the Autumn of 1870, and has developed rapidly into a SUCCESSFUL AND WEALTHY CORPORATION, having a large revenue from its largely increasing business. With the EXTENSION it will be one corporation, with 420 miles of road, located in a commanding position in the heart of the best portion of the country. The counties on the line of the EXTENSION in 1870 had a population of 242,330; valuation of real and personal estate, $181,000,000; bushels of grain raised, 27,000,000; value of farm products, $25,570,000, and live stock, $18,349,000; to which may safely be added 15 per cent. to represent the present population and value. THE COUNTIES ON THE OLD LINE AND THE EXTENSION TOGETHER CONTAIN A POPULATION OF NEARLY THREE-QUARTERS OF A MILLION, AND A PROPERTY VALUATION EXCEEDING $400,000,000.

From these statistics it will be readily seen that the EXTENSION will have a Local Business that will make it a complete success. In addition to this it will have the entire Through Traffic of the Missouri, Iowa, and Nebraska Road, connecting with it on the Mississippi River, and extending West to the Missouri, 300 miles, where it connects with the Midland Pacific in Nebraska. These two corporations, and also the Peoria and Rock Island (91 miles,) and the Davenport and St. Paul (300 miles,) although separate corporations, ARE CONTROLLED IN THE INTEREST OF THE INDIANAPOLIS, BLOOMINGTON AND WESTERN RAILWAY, and, practically, will be a united line of more than 1,200 miles, the through business of which will pass over the I., B. & W. This is an East and West trunk route and has no parallel competing line. The Eastern connections at Indianapolis are the Pennsylvania Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Bellefontaine, Lake Shore, and New-York Central, and other roads centering at this point. From the Sea-board to the West and North-west distances are materially reduced via this system of roads; so much so that it cannot fail to be the popular line for travel and business. Liberal subscriptions to the stock were made by towns and counties on the line of the EXTENSION, and the remainder has been taken by experienced railroad men and Eastern capitalists.

These facts cannot fail to make the bonds, which will be issued only on completed road, take high rank among the best railway securities.

The bonds are $1,000 each, convertible into stock at par, at the option of the holder, and may be registered free of charge.

Coupons, payable January and July 1, free of tax. The bonds may now be had from banks and bankers throughout the country.

We offer them at present at 90 and interest, and recommend them strongly to our friends and investors as one of the safest and most desirable securities on the market.

Bonds delivered free of express charges. Maps, pamphlets and circulars furnished on application.

INTEREST PAYABLE IN NEW-YORK, LONDON AND FRANKFORT.

This road will connect JACKSONVILLE, on the Chicago and Alton Railroad, with MOUNT VERNON, and will furnish the Counties of Morgan, Sangamon, Macoupin, Montgomery, Bond, Clinton, Marion and Jefferson with facilities long needed to transport their crops to market.

At Virden, where the deposits of bituminous coal are seven feet in depth, a large business will be created so soon as cheap transportation is assured by the construction of this road to accessible markets.

Thirty Miles from Jacksonville to Virden are already completed and fully equipped. Fifty miles will be finished in time to move the Autumn crops.

THE CHICAGO AND ALTON R. R.,
THE INDIANAPOLIS AND ST. LOUIS RAILROAD,
THE TERRE HAUTE RAILROAD,
THE VANDALIA AND ST. LOUIS RAILROAD, AND
THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.,

Act as feeders to the road at various points.

Its connection, also, with the important roads now centering at Mount Vernon and Evansville must also secure it a large and remunerative traffic.

The road forms a part of a through route from St. Louis to the sea-board.

Running through a section of country thickly settled and producing large quantities of grain and lumber, with not an acre of waste land to be found anywhere in proximity to the road, its local traffic alone will amply secure the cost of building.

The issue of bonds is limited to $20,000 per mile, and we offer only $600,000 on the thirty miles of road already completed and in successful operation.

When desired, the bonds will be registered with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

In view of the above facts, we recommend these Bonds on account of their ABSOLUTE SAFETY, and regard them as, in every way, a choice security. Pamphlets will be furnished on application.

is located through the richest and most populous portion of the State of Wisconsin, is finished for seventy-five miles, and well equipped. Net earnings are sufficient to pay interest on the bonds issued, and the traffic is steadily increasing.

The whole line is under contract, and will be finished the present year. Trains will be running to Menasha, 100 miles from Milwaukee, by the 1st of November.

Entire issue of bonds only $18,000 per mile on completed and fully-equipped road. Bonds have twenty years to run, bear interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, free of Government tax, payable in New-York on the 1st day of June and December.

We offer these bonds after careful investigation, and confidently recommend them as a safe and desirable investment.

INDIANAPOLIS, BLOOMINGTON AND WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Short Central Trunk Route.

This road has been in operation from Indianapolis to Pekin, 202 miles, for two years. Its earnings have rapidly increased, and are now at a rate sufficient to pay all current expenses, interest on all its Bonded Indebtedness, including that made for its Extension, and, in addition, a dividend upon its Stock.

The Extension is 217 miles in length, and connects Champaign with the Mississippi River at Keokuk. It passes through a well-developed part of the State of Illinois, abounding in resources for a great business, and it must in a short time equal in receipts the other part of the Road with which it is consolidated, making a total line of 420 miles. Intimate western connections make this route the most direct between the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts.

The entire road traverses a very fertile region, and possesses the best subsidy a road can have, viz.: IMMENSE BUSINESS IMMEDIATELY AT COMMAND.

Under a fair valuation, the property of the older part of the road, above prior obligations, is fully equal in amount to the Bonds now issued, which are further and completely secured by a first and only mortgage on the extension, one-half of which is near completion, and the remainder will be finished early in 1873.

The Bonds are Seven Per Cent. Gold, $1,000 each, convertible into stock at par at the option of the owner, and may be registered without charge. PRICE 90 AND ACCRUED INTEREST in currency. Coupons, January and July 1, free of tax.

We recommend the Bonds to all classes of investors as an undoubted security.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS FOR DIMENSION STONE REQUIRED IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE NEW GOVERNMENT BUILDING AT ST. LOUIS, MO.

OFFICE OF SUPERVISING ARCHITECT,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 21, 1872.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 12 o'clock M. of the 26th day of October, 1872, for furnishing and delivering at the site of the proposed Government building at St. Louis, Mo., all of the dimension required for the exterior of the building.

The species of stone from which a selection will be made will be confined to granite, marble and sandstones, and the qualities especially insisted upon will be uniformity of color and texture, durability, and the capacity for working under the chisel or hammer.

A sample block, 12x12x12 inches, showing on each face a different kind of cutting, and on one the natural fracture of the stone must be submitted with each bid.

No stone that has not been tested by actual use as cut stone in buildings for at least ten years will be considered, and absolute proof that it has been so used for that period must be furnished.

The stone must further have a good grain and be free from all discoloring substances, and the quarry from which it is procured must be fully opened and capable of furnishing the quality and quantity desired within one year.

About 400,000 cubic feet, more or less, will be required, the actual average of the stones cannot now be given, but will approximate forty feet, the largest stone containing about 200 cubic feet.

The stone will be ordered on a schedule of net sizes, in order that the contractor may make proper allowances for cutting in the quarrying, and on this schedule payment will be made allowing an addition of one inch to each face on granite and marble stock and of one-half inch to each cut face of sandstone.

Bidders will state how soon they can commence delivering the stone and the amount per week they can deliver; the stone and the amount per week they can deliver. They will also state the average and maximum size of the stones that can be obtained from their quarry.

No bids will be received except from the owners or lessees of the quarries from which the stone is proposed to be furnished, and a certificate from the Recorder of the County in which the quarry is situated that the bidder is the owner or lessee of the quarry must accompany the bid.

All proposals must be made on and in full accordance with the printed forms to be obtained on application at this office or from the Superintendent, Mr. Thomas Walsh, St. Louis, Mo., and must be accompanied by a penal bond in the sum of fifty thousand dollars, ($50,000) that the bidder will accept and perform the contract if awarded to him, and give bond therefor in the penal sum of one hundred thousand dollars, ($100,000) and a valid and binding lease of the quarry to the Government as security for the faithful performance of the contract, the lease to take effect upon the failure of the contractor to comply with the terms of the contract, said lease to authorize the Government to take full possession of the quarry and work it at the expense of the contractor in case of default.

The Department reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to divide the contract and use two or more kinds of stone.

Proposals must be inclosed in a sealed envelope, indorsed, "Proposals for dimension stone for the new Government building, St. Louis, Mo.," and addressed to A. B. MULLETT, Supervising Architect.

NEW-YORK CITY NEWS.

THE BAR ASSOCIATION.

An Enthusiastic Meeting—City Judge Bedford Denounced—An Exciting Debate.

A very largely-attended meeting of the Bar Association was held last evening at No. 20 West Twenty-seventh-street, Mr. Van Winkle in the chair.

Mr. T. Marbury, on the part of the Committee appointed to confer with the various political organizations for the purpose of influencing the nomination of suitable persons for the judicial offices, reported the result of their labors in the obtainment of the names of the several candidates put forward by Tammany Hall, Apollo Hall, the Reform Associations, and the Republican Party. The name of Mr. Noah Davis, the Republican candidate for Supreme Court, was loudly applauded. He explained that the Committee did not directly indorse the names of candidates, but stated that they had no objections to make with reference to them, leaving the people to determine who shall be elected. The Committee recommended the following resolution:

> That the Chairman be recommended to report to the Association that this Committee refuse to approve of the nomination of Judge Bedford as candidate for the office of City Judge, which was presented by the Committee of the Tammany Hall organization, and that it is our opinion that his nomination should be publicly disproved and opposed by the Bar Association. (Applause.)

Mr. Price strongly condemned any action on the part of the Association which would evince a partisan spirit, and maintained that they should not in any manner participate in the contest. He was a Democrat who was not confined by party ties when the general interest was involved, and never voted for any of those corrupt Judges recently kicked off the Bench. He moved that the report be laid on the table, with the exception of the latter portion, which he greatly approved of.

Mr. McKeon did not have any greater reverence for Judges beyond that he entertained for other officials, and deemed their conduct, when wrong, liable to similar censure. He did not deem it right to condemn Judge Bedford so severely without reasons, and asked if any one present had the courage to specify a charge against him.

Mr. Price quickly jumped on the floor and declared he had the courage to do so. [Applause.] He instanced Bedford's refusal to bail William M. Tweed, contrary to the Constitution of the State of New-York, though it was to him he owed his elevation. He placed that duty upon another Judge, and sought credit for his action. Mr. Price asserted that his motive in that proceeding rendered him unfit for the position he occupied, for he had not the courage to do his duty in the face of political whisperers. He also stigmatized his conduct on the Bench, his sentencing of prisoners, and his general deportment as degrading, and deserving the scorn of every proper minded man.

The motion to lay upon the table was put to the meeting and lost. Nearly an hour was then spent in exciting and seemingly purposeless debate and proposals of innumerable resolutions. It was determined to separate the resolution from the report, and, on motion, the former was carrried almost unanimously. Gen. Barlow moved to have the name of Judge Davis, and, subsequently, the names of each candidate, voted upon, but they were overruled. A series of resolutions, propositions, and amendments of all description were then put, to the complete bewilderment of every person in the house. Finally a motion to adjourn was offered and carried. The meeting then adjourned.

INSURANCE CONVENTION.

Third Annual Session in this City—Day and Evening Meetings and the Matters Disposed of.

The third annual session of the National Insurance Convention commenced yesterday at Underwriters' Hall, Broadway, Mr. A. W. Paine, of Maine, acting as Chairman pro. tem., and Col. H. S. Olcott as Secretary. The following members were present, in addition to these officers: Insurance Commissioners J. W. Foard, of California; Gustavus W. Smith, of Kentucky; Oliver Pilsbury, of New-Hampshire, and W. H. Finch, Examiner of Corporations, North Carolina. Mr. Stephen H. Rhodes, Deputy Commissioner of Massachusetts, was in attendance, but not as a member of the Convention. The Secretary read letters from Superintendent Sells, of Missouri; Auditors Berry, of Arkansas, and Gillespie, of Nebraska; L. Breese, Secretary of State of Wisconsin; Auditor Russell, of Iowa; Commissioner Miller, of Connecticut, also from the Commissioners of Ohio, Michigan, Kansas, Tennessee and South Carolina, expressing regret at their inability to be present. Gen. Hartranft, of Pennsylvania, wrote that he would attend on Thursday.

Mr. G. W. Smith inquired what had been done toward revising the tables of mortality used as the basis of insurance contracts? Col. Olcott replied that the Commission, composed of actuaries, insurance officers and Commissioners, to revise the present tables, had been appointed, and would shortly hold their first meeting.

The Chairman asked if any insurance companies had been invited to attend the Convention, to state the complaints they might have to make, and for other purposes? The Secretary said that a number were informed of the meeting, but none, either fire or life, were, so far, present.

Mr. G. W. Smith wished to know whether any report was ready on the subject of winding up insolvent companies. The Chairman said that the subject was open to discussion, and, no report having been drawn up, the Convention was informed that it would be discussed at the next sitting.

Col. Olcott presented invitations to the Convention from the Board of Emigration, Commissioners of Charities, and Marine Underwriters, to accept of their hospitalities while in the City.

Mr. Pilsbury objected to delaying business for any such purpose.

The invitations were respectfully declined.

The Chairman suggested the appointment of permanent officers before adjourning. Mr. Foard thought it would be better to delay that matter to a later day, when there might be a fuller attendance. This subject then dropped, and the Convention adjourned to meet in executive session at 3 P. M., at St. Nicholas Hotel.

At that hour the session was resumed, Commissioner Paine, of Maine, presiding. The time was occupied in amending the form of the blanks for the returns made annually by the insurance companies to the several States. The sessions will be continued today and to-morrow.

Queens County Oyer and Terminer.

The Queens County Court of Oyer and Terminer, Justice Pratt, at North Hempstead, has been engaged in the trial of the case of Oliver Crooks, indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses, while Collector of the town of Newtown, and of Francis McKenna, for misdemeanor in not filing returns of convictions with the County Clerk, as required by the statute, while occupying the position of Justice of the Peace of the same town. These indictments, together with a number against other town officers, were obtained by the Newtown Reform Association. The evidence was insufficient, and in both instances the defendants were pronounced not guilty. Patrick Butler and Leah Jones, indicted for grand larceny, pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to imprisonment in the Kings County Penitentiary—the former two years and the latter one year.

Martin Kerrigan, indicted for the murder of his wife, will be tried today.

A number of pleas were entered and the prisoners remanded.

Railroad Accident—Three Men Killed at Upper Piermont.

At about daylight on Monday, the bodies of three dead men were discovered lying upon or near the track of the Northern New-Jersey Railroad, just below the curve, near Upper Piermont, in Rockland County, N. Y. One of them lay between the two rails. The second lay a few feet below. The head and arms had been completely severed from the trunk. The third lay to one side of the track and was horribly mangled. Near the scene lay fragments of whisky bottles. The bodies are supposed to have been those of Midland Railroad laborers; and the indications as to the cause of death are that they were intoxicated and walking upon the track near the curve when they were struck by the night train.

THE ELECTION LAW.

An Explanation of its Advantages and Provisions—Something for Voters to Consider.

The case of Heinrich, held to bail by Chief Supervisor Davenport, for a refusal to answer the questions of a United States deputy marshal, engaged in verifying lists of registered voters, has given occasion for violent attacks upon the United States Election law in the partisan Press.

Anything which tends to secure the purity of the ballot-box should certainly meet with the approval and support of all honest men. Nothing that has as yet been devised is likely to so nearly accomplish this desirable result as the Federal Election law, only in partial operation at the last election. By its free and unobstructed action, the repeating frauds and illegal voting practices here when Tammany held sway are rendered impracticable. Instead of obstructing the working of the law, it is reasonable to suppose that citizens desirous of an honest election would give the officials appointed for the task every facility in the work of verification. The glaring frauds committed at the polls in New-York and other large cities, was a cogent argument to the assembled wisdom of Congress to enact a law which would insure that the people were represented honestly in the National Government, and were not defrauded out of the men of their choice. The advantages of the law are shared by all parties, it being a check to the frauds of each, and its constitutionality is admitted by the best legal authorities.

The powers and duties of supervisors and deputy-marshals, appointed to carry out its provisions, are very explicitly set forth in the various acts and amended acts which define the law, and are admirably designed to prevent illegal voting. In towns of over 20,000 inhabitants the Chief Supervisor is invested with more authority than where the population is less, to better enable him to cope with increased difficulties.

Under, as it is entitled, the Amendment act, "to enforce the rights of citizens to vote in the several States of the Union and for other purposes," passed Feb. 28, 1871, the Chief Supervisor is authorized in section 13, "to require of the supervisors of election, where necessary, lists of the persons who may register and vote, or either, in their respective election districts or voting precincts, and to cause the names of those upon any such list, whose right to register or vote shall be honestly doubted, to be verified by proper inquiry and examination at the respective places by them assigned as their residences; and to receive, preserve and file all oaths of office and all certificates, returns, reports and records of every kind and nature contemplated or made requisite under and by the provisions of this act, save where otherwise herein specially ordered."

This clothes the Chief Supervisor with the power of taking a census of voters during registration and after an election, whenever United States officers are to be elected, should he deem it necessary. A census is now being taken.

Each election district is subdivided into blocks and an enumerator assigned to each. Prescribed questions as to the eligibility of male residents in each house to vote, are printed in a book, with which the enumerator is supplied, and which is kept for comparison with the registry of the inspectors of election. Persons who are not entitled to vote at all, or in the district where registered, or repeaters, will thus be readily detected, and make themselves liable to arrest and punishment if they attempt to cast a ballot.

The law for a refusal to answer the census taken is as stringent under this act as the one enforced under the census law of 1870. Section 10 says:

> "That any person who, during the progress of any verification of any list of the persons who may have registered or voted, shall refuse to answer, or refrain from answering, or answering shall give false information in respect to an inquiry lawfully made, such persons shall be liable to arrest and imprisonment as for a misdemeanor, and on conviction will be punished by imprisonment not to exceed thirty days, or by fine not to exceed $100, or by both fine and imprisonment, and shall pay the costs of the prosecution."

The men intrusted with the duty of taking the census are instructed to pursue their inquiries with courtesy and forbearance, and to confine themselves strictly to the questions prescribed in the printed forms with which they are furnished. As the supervisors and the deputy marshals selected are composed of men of both political parties, the provisions of the law cannot but be carried out to the satisfaction of both parties, and its working will be as fair for one side as the other.

A statement which appeared in a daily paper, that the act which empowers supervisors and marshals to visit houses, ask questions and make arrests for refusal to answer, had been repealed in an amendment to the law in 1872 is erroneous. The act quoted from to prove the statement is not amendatory, but supplemental, and specifically applies to towns of less than 20,000 inhabitants. The act to which it is a supplement is in full force, and the arrest of a person for obstructing the law within the meaning of the act is warrantable.

There is no warrant, however, for impertinence upon the part of the men intrusted with the execution of the law. Supervisors and marshals are likely to have in the discharge of duty as much trouble with honest citizens who are not familiar with the law, and ignorant voters, as with men who desire to commit fraud, by a want of tact and courtesy and too much assumption of authority.

TAMMANY'S TRIBULATIONS.

A Lively Scene at the Seventh Congressional Convention—Senator Thomas J. Creamer Receives the Nomination.

The Tammany Seventh Congressional District Convention was held at Tammany Hall last evening to nominate a candidate for Congress. Thirty-five delegates were present. Dr. Merklee was chosen to preside, with A. T. Akert as Secretary. The Chairman of the Conference Committee announced that they had consulted with a committee from Apollo Hall, to whom they had mentioned Smith Ely, Jr., as candidate for Congress from the Seventh District; but the other side would not listen to it, and no other names had been submitted. At this point a letter was received from Mr. Ely, declining in emphatic language the proposed nomination. Justice Hartman, who was the moving spirit in the affair, promptly moved to indorse the Apollo Hall nominee—Thomas J. Creamer. The proposal evoked considerable discussion, in which Mr. Augustus Schell was conspicuous for his skepticism as to Creamer's faith in the Democratic ticket, and in the Tammany candidate for Mayor. It was to be regretted, he said, that no candidate for the Mayoralty could be found who would be acceptable to both branches of the Democracy, and Apollo Hall's opposition to Lawrence was well known. Mr. Schell took occasion to denounce O'Brien fiercely, contending that his election would be a degradation to the City. He concluded by warning the delegates against Apollo Hall candidates. To all this the Creamer faction vigorously responded, claiming that their candidate had always been a "true blue" Tammanyite, and that his conversion to Greeleyism was complete. The question of nomination was brought up, and Creamer was nominated by acclamation. More objections followed from Messrs. Clark and Schell, who insisted that Tammany and the Democratic Party generally must expire unless their candidates this year were elected. The discussion was summarily closed by the appointment of a committee of six to inform Mr. Creamer of his nomination. He soon appeared in the room. He delivered a lengthy address to the Convention, expounding his views upon local issues and declaring hostility to Tweed & Co. He announced his advocacy of Greeley and the State ticket, but avoided any allusion to the Mayoralty question, which omission appeared to be anything but satisfactory to the Schell faction.

At the conclusion of Mr. Creamer's address the Convention adjourned sine die.

A Fire-Alarm Telegraph for Paterson.

Last Fall the matter of erecting a fire-alarm in Paterson was brought before the Common Council, but they declined to vote the $15,000 necessary. At the fire at the Watson Manufacturing Company's works, some weeks ago, the flames were allowed to spread almost unmolested for fifteen minutes. The loss of nearly half a million dollars could have been almost entirely prevented had there been a suitable alarm. The Common Council met on Monday evening, and, urged by the pressure of public opinion, ordered the immediate erection of a fire and police telegraph.

Meeting of the National Executive Committee of the Union League.

A meeting of the National Executive Committee of the Union League was held yesterday at the Astor House, Ex-Gov. Wm. A. Newell, of New-Jersey, in the chair. Thos. G. Baker, of New-York, was appointed Secretary. A number of letters were read showing brilliant prospects of victory in the West and South. Several instances of the conversion of life-long Democrats to the Republican cause were enumerated by Gov. Geary, of Pennsylvania, and Gen. R. L. Bodine mentioned one county in Pennsylvania, which had gone Democratic for forty years, as having voted the Republican ticket in the recent elections. Major J. McQuade promised 500 majority for Grant in Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. Encouraging letters were also received from Maryland, Louisiana and Arkansas. The members of the Union League all through the country are enthusiastic for Gen. Grant, and are working harmoniously for his re-election. The National Council of the League will meet in Washington on the 3d of March next. The Committee adjourned subject to the call of the Chair.

"BOSS" TWEED.

Not Yet Arrested—The Court-House Indictments Not Found.

The statement that the Court-house Commissioners, Coman, Norton, and Ingersoll, had been indicted by the Oyer and Terminer Grand Jury, was incorrect. The Grand Jury have been investigating the Court-house frauds, and will doubtless indict those proven to have been connected therewith, but it was positively asserted yesterday, that no indictments in the matter have yet been handed into Court.

The jury met at 10 A.M., and, as far as could be ascertained, their labors were confined to preparing indictments of an ordinary criminal character. Andrew J. Garvey was in the neighborhood of the Grand Jury-room during the morning, but was not examined. That Henry Genet has been indicted for the alleged frauds in connection with the Harlem Court-house is generally believed, although no interest is manifested in the matter.

Sheriff Brennan and his clerk, Judson Jarvis, were apparently very busy yesterday. During the afternoon Mr. Brennan received a message indirectly from Tweed, and remarked to a TIMES reporter: "If you come here to-morrow morning at 10½ you will have your curiosity to see Mr. Tweed gratified. He is coming here to my office, and will go with me to Court." The Sheriff seemed to be very confident that Tweed would surrender himself this morning at the time specified, but said that the search for him would not be relaxed. The only orders of arrest in the hands of the Sheriff are the two for Tweed on the indictments for misdemeanor and forgery.

Thomas C. Fields was seen in Detroit, a few days ago, by a person who knew him quite well, (having been Assistant Librarian in the Assembly when Fields was a member.) The gentleman, Mr. James H. Dunn, accosted him as Mr. Fields, but he replied, "You are mistaken." But Dunn says he was not mistaken. He had recorded his name as Frost. The man, whoever he was, hurried away from the hotel after this conversation. He had been previously inquiring the time of departure of the Southern train.

RICHES TAKE WINGS.

Misfortunes of the Wealthiest Man in New-Hampshire—His Ancestral Acres Sold, and He a Fugitive.

Correspondence of the Boston Globe.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 17, 1872.

The case of Charles March Stephens, of New-York State, vs. Clement March and others, of Greenland, N. H., which has for some time past been the most important case on the docket of the Supreme Judicial Court of Rockingham County, New-Hampshire, has recently been decided. Col. March, a few years since, was considered the most wealthy man in New-Hampshire. By the wills of his uncle, for years well known as United States Consul at Madeira, and of his brother Charles W. March, the friend and biographer of Daniel Webster, Col. March received a large property; and the wonder has seemed to every one, how he could contrive to spend so much of it in so short a space of time. On the ancestral farm in Greenland, five miles from Portsmouth, he erected houses, barns, grapery and other buildings, in a magnificent style; surrounded the farm by a stone wall costing more than the value of the land, purchased an extensive collection of books, furnished the houses and stocked the farm. All this was done with a lavish hand; and the elegant entertainments given by the Colonel, his well-kept grounds, his stud of horses, his carriages, including the coach given by the Bostonians to Daniel Webster, were the admiration of many people in Portsmouth and the region round about.

Here, with a large income, he could have lived as a gentleman farmer, in the enjoyment of his fortune. But a taste for speculation, engendered by a success in that direction a few years previously, attacked him, and he yielded to the fascination. He visited Philadelphia, where he had once made, by a fortunate hit, a hundred thousand dollars; and the sharp stock-brokers of that city welcomed him to their offices. Into the various mining and other stocks of the Philadelphia Board, the Colonel plunged at once. The brokers knew their man and his reputed wealth. He thought he was the better judge of stocks and future operations. But the story is a brief one,—the Colonel succumbed before the experienced manipulations of the Stock Exchange, and the places that once knew him, now know him no more. He returned to New-Hampshire a poorer, if not a wiser man—but ere long left his splendid home, probably forever.

In the will of Charles W. March were certain legacies which the financial gentleman, in his haste to double his fortune, had omitted to pay; and as creditors always want their money when a debtor is in a bad condition to pay, so the legatees and their representatives began to cast about to see how the funds they were to enjoy were being probated; and the result was the suit before alluded to, which was a suit in chancery, followed by the appointment of a receiver, who took possession of Mr. March's estate, his farm in Greenland, his library, horses, hounds, and all his effects, which were sold at auction.

The usual results in such cases followed: Cross bills, injunctions, answers, rejoinders, affidavits, testimony, interpleaders, joining of new defendants and parties, bonds, issues, pleadings, sales, references to Masters, Masters' reports, attachments, workmen and laborers' liens, proceedings at law, equity, and all the well-planned accumulation of legal strife ensued; until recently the Court decreed that Mr. Small, the receiver, be confirmed in his doings and sales, and that sundry bondsmen of Mr. March be discharged from liability on his bond as executors. Mr. Goodall, an attorney at Portsmouth, was appointed Trustee under the will of Charles W. March, for Charles March Stephens, and was ordered to give bonds in the sum of $70,000. Mr. Conner, Clerk of the Courts at Exeter, is appointed trustee for Mrs. St. Clair, sister of Mr. March, and there is due to such trustee $12,000, for which he is to have one-half of the temple in Portsmouth and other property. The Court adjudged that Col. March owed the administrator of Mrs. Stephens' estate $19,638 41, and S. H. Goodall, trustee, $33,920 25, as interest on a legacy of $100,000, and the sum of $100,000, principal of said legacy. The sales of the receiver go to pay these as far as they may, and for any unsatisfied balance the trustee takes an execution against the estate, or the body of Clement March. The other details are uninteresting.

The family tomb, which has likewise passed under the auctioneer's hammer, and now stands sadly on land owned by a stranger, bears the inscription: "Built by Clement March, 1761; rebuilt by his great grandson, Clement March, 1861." For several years, and up to the last, ex-President Pierce was a frequent guest at the March mansion, and with a large circle of guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. March.

ACCIDENT IN CALIFORNIA.

Three Cars Thrown Over an Embankment—Four Persons Killed and Three Injured.

From the San Francisco Alta, Oct. 15.

The eastward-bound train which left San Francisco on Sunday morning met with a most serious accident near Truckee, about 10½ o'clock Sunday night. The train consisted of the mail-car, express-car, baggage-car, two sleeping coaches and four second-class coaches, with about forty passengers in the sleepers and eighty in the second-class cars. The train started down the grade from the Summit, as was supposed, perfectly safe. When it had sped on a few miles, a link of the brake chains broke in the forward part of the train. The mail, express and baggage cars being much lighter than the passenger coaches, it is believed one of the first-named jumped the track. The engineer, foreseeing a calamity, and to prevent the cars from running into the locomotive, broke from the cars and ran away from the train. The grade from the Summit to Truckee is said to be on an average about eighty feet to the mile. The cars kept on at a most rapid rate down the hill, the speed being estimated at from fifty to seventy-five miles an hour. When within about a quarter of a mile of Truckee, in turning the curve, the three first-named cars were thrown down an embankment about twenty feet.

When the train first started on its lightning speed, most of the passengers were asleep. The quick motion of the cars to and fro startled them, and many believed that the road to destruction stared them in the face, and as can well be imagined, feelings of relief came over all of them when the train was brought to a standstill near Truckee.

The mail-car was smashed to splinters, while the express-car telescoped into the baggage-car, at the same time drawing one of the sleepers across the track. The passengers all escaped without serious accident, a few only having sustained slight bruises. D. G. Marshall, the conductor, and one of the oldest on the road, stepped out on the platform to tighten the brakes, when he was caught between the two sleeping-cars, and almost cut in twain. Capt. Taylor, one of the postal guard, Mr. Houck, the postal agent, and Van Warmer, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger, met with instant death in being thrown down the embankment. A newsboy, and the other employes on the cars, whose names were not ascertained, also sustained serious injuries, one of them having his legs broken. Assistance was rendered as speedily as possible by the employes of the Company at Truckee, and a special train was despatched from Sacramento to the scene of the disaster immediately on the receipt of the telegram. The wrecked cars lying across the track delayed the eastward and westward bound trains about four hours. A gang of men were brought into service, removing the débris from the tracks, collecting the mail and express matter, and saving from utter ruin the passengers' baggage. The platforms and projections over them on the passenger cars were all more or less damaged, and as soon as the special train arrived from Sacramento the passengers were at once transferred, and sent east soon afterward. The westward-bound train reached Truckee yesterday morning about 5 o'clock, and left there at 10 o'clock, the passengers being landed in San Francisco at 1½ o'clock this morning. The remains of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger were brought to this city in charge of his brother.

Indian Rivers.

Allen's Indian Mail says: "A remarkable instance of the extent to which Indian rivers are apt to change their courses is furnished by the history of the Brahmaputra during the last ninety years. In 1785 that river flowed far to the east of Dacca, receiving in its course the rivers of Silhet, which joined with it to form the Meghna, at that time the direct outlet for all the drainage of the Assam and Cachar Valleys. Since then, however, the Brahmaputra has shifted its main channel nearly 200 miles westward, consigning many an ancient city to ruin and giving birth to new centres of trade and population. All this seems to have happened in the space of twenty years, the process having been pretty nearly completed in 1830. The Jheels or swamps of Silhet, deprived of the vast supply of silt which the Brahmaputra used to wash down from the hills and higher valleys, lost their chance of an early transformation into cultivable land. The influx of the Bramaputra into the Gangetic River system tended to develop the process of land-making in the Gangetic delta, by forcing the Gangetic rivers to spread their silt over a wider area than before. While Sonargaong, the old capital of Bengal, deserted by the river to which it owed its prosperity, is now a mean village surrounded by heaps of brick and jungle, the great trading mart of Serajganj, where so much jute was damaged by the late cyclone, has sprung up like a gourd on the new channel of the Brahmaputra. The trade of Dacca itself is even now threatened by the same disturbing cause. Similar changes appear to be going on in the Ganges, one of which we lately mentioned as tending to undermine a part of the railway between Colgong and Bhágalpúr. It is not unlikely, as the Englishman suggests, that these changes may have something to do with the prevalence of endemic diseases, like the Bardwán fever, in the districts affected by them. The matter, at any rate, is one that calls for and would doubtless repay careful inquiry."

Central Club of United Nationalities.

The Central Club of United Nationalities met last evening at Ittner's Hotel, corner of Mercer and Grand-streets, Gen. Franz Sigel in the chair. Deputations from the Bohemian and Hungarian Societies were presented, and received with due honors. The Chairman announced that he had secured the hall of the Cooper Union for a mass-meeting on next Tuesday night, to indorse the nomination of Grant and Wilson.
